MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 27.—It is claimed among politicians here that Henry Cochems, who with McGovern deserted La Follette at the Chicago convention, has made the positive statement that Roosevelt will come into Wisconsin this fall and take the stump for McGovern in the latter's senatorial fight.

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—Trickery and double dealing was laid at the door of leading bull moosers, and especially Governor McGovern, in a talk on "The Ethics of Politics" at the Sergeants' Inn, a law club, Tuesday night, by F. M. Wylie, chief clerk of the state senate, and who was connected with the La Follette presidential headquarters in 1912.

"News came to me in Washington early in the spring of 1912 of McGovern's flirting with Roosevelt," said Mr. Wylie. "I heard of a conference between them on Roosevelt's private car, and I heard of a remark by Roosevelt that McGovern was the man he depended on in Wisconsin. When I came back to the special session of the legislature in May I compared notes with the La Follette men here, and the intentions of McGovern were perfectly plain. And when a few days later I read in a New York paper the proposal of the Roosevelt men to support McGovern for chairman of the Chicago convention, the plan to use McGovern to steal the Wisconsin delegation from La Follette was clear. It pretty nearly worked—but not quite.

"McGovern, after having been entrusted with a charge from the people of Wisconsin to advance the candidacy of La Follette and having betrayed that candidacy, came back to Wisconsin and was a candidate for and received the nomination for governor on the republican ticket. And then he deserted the party and declared his allegiance to the bull moose, whose avowed purpose was the disruption of the republican party. But he had pocketed the republican nomination first, and he was elected because the democratic nominee was hopelessly reactionary and McGovern's friends placarded the state with La Follette's advocacy of Karel's defeat, and La Follette took the stump against Karel. And when he had in this manner pocketed the election also, McGovern issued a long statement denying any resistance from the sources known to have elected him, and abusing those who had just been responsible for his victory. But why go on—the procession is still passing.

Mr. Wylie related the notorious attempt of Medill McCormick to have issued by the La Follette headquarters a pamphlet paving the way for Roosevelt's candidacy.

"The La Follette campaign had developed great strength, and we planned the publication of several hundred thousand copies of a pamphlet outlining the career and principles of our candidate. Mr. Houser and Mr. Hannan were both leaving for the Ohio states, where Senator La Follette was to make a speaking campaign during the holiday recess of congress, and I was told that Mr. McCormick would give me the copy for the pamphlet. When I received it from McCormick, La Follette also had left Washington on his trip.

"I read it over. It endorsed La Follette because he was an exponent of the Roosevelt policies. Get the drift? It was an adroit putting of La Follette in second place and preparing the public mind for Roosevelt. I came to the immediate conclusion that before a stick of type was set on that job, La Follette would be back in Washington. McCormick left for Chicago, and telegraphed back an urgent order to at once print ten thousand advance copies and mail them to the newspapers. It was to be done at once. It was never done. The copy remained in my pocket un-

NEED $100 MORE TO COMPLETE WHITE WAY DOWN TO THE RIVER

With $50 contributed by J. M. Hixon, president of the park commission, and $50 by E. M. Wing for the Batavian National bank,, ia addition to the sums paid by abutting property owners, there remain but $100 that must be secured in order to complete the White Way from Third street to Front street on Main street, in anticipation of Homecoming week.

N. M. Scott, chairman of the decorations of the board of trade for Homecoming week, personally undertook the enterprise of raising money for this purpose, and while the last few dollars of such fundh always come hard, Mr. Scott's hard work and enthusiasm seem to have assured the outcome.

"You can't tell me there are not in La Crosse men who will come quickly to the rescue when they learn that we are within $100 of success,' said Mr. Scott today. "I have come to know the people of this community, and I know their generosity and public spirit is equal to a much greater task than that before us."

CAMPBELL VOTES MIDNIGHT CLOSING

Nine Roadhouses on Salem Road and French Island Affected by Result of Election Tuesday

REGULATION WINS BY 14 VOTES

Reported Today that Several of Proprietors Plan to Close Their Places as Result

Despite strenuous efforts on the part of proprietors of road houses in the town of Campbell, the voters of that town yesterday voted, 96 to 82, against allowing the saloons to remain open after midnight. The result of yesterday's special election makes binding the decision of the voters at the town meeting in April, when the midnight closing rule was adopted by acclamation.

The special election was called because the town meeting decision was held to lack legal force.

When the town meeting ruling was put through, saloonmen and their supporters in the town were loud in their declarations that a trick had been worked upon them. They declared that had the town meeting been held at the usual time, they would have had sufficient support to defeat the measure. They announced at that time their intention of calling a special election to reverse the action of the town meeting.

The election yesterday brought out considerably less than the registered number of voters in the town. Only 178 votes were cast, and the estimated voting strength of the town of Campbell is 225.

Nine saloon and roadhouses, along the West Salem road and on French Island, are affected by the midnight closing rule. It is reported that several of the proprietors of resorts affected by the regulations will close their places.

CLASSMATES PALLBEARERS

CHICAGO, May 27.—Six of her former classmates, dressed in their white high school graduation gowns, bore the body of 20 year old Florence Bentley to the hearse in Downer's Grove at noon today, while a coroner's jury was starting an investigation into the death of the pretty model, whose bruised body was found in the woods Monday night.

HEAR ARGUMENTS IN WENDLING CASE

Bosshard and Higbee Appear in Circuit Court on Discharge of Police Sergeant

MOTION TO QUASH IS DENIED

Court Refuses to Dismiss Proceedings; Colman Must Make Further Return on Writ

Denying motions to supersede and quash, made by City Attorney J. E. Higbee, in the certiorari proceedings brought by deposed Police Sergeant John Wendling against the police and fire commission, Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee this morning heard, in chambers, arguments on the writ.

Upon the completion of the arguments Judge Higbee entered an order calling upon L. C. Coleman, secretary of the board, to make further return upon the writ to show whether or not testimony was taken at the trial of Wendling and whether or not a record of this testimony was kept by the commission.

Attorney Otto Bosshard, representing Wendling, argued that the proceedings of the board were not legal, that no formal complaint was filed, that the signers of the complaint had no legal right to be parties to the charges and that the punishment meted out to the sergeant for using the police auto for business not connected with the department was harsh and out of proportion with the alleged offense.

Attorney Higbee, for the commission, argued that anyone had the right to make complaint and that the proceedings were perfectly legal.

Judge Higbee took the case under advisment and will hand down his decision Tuesday, June 2.

TELL OF STRIKE

NEW YORK, May 27.—Graphic word pictures of the terrors of the Colorado strike war were painted today for the United States commission on industrial relations by wives of two miners. Mrs. Pearl Jolly, who was under fire for several days in the Ludlow tent colony, and Mrs. Mary Hanna Thomas, who helped remove the bodies of 11 women and children from the burned tents, were allowed to tell their stories.

INDIAN CHIEF 128

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 27.—His sight and hearing unimpaired and still able to walk without assistance, John Smith, 128 years old, chief of the Chippewa Indian tribe for over 100 years, is here to see the city that has risen from his former hunting grounds before he dies. Government records prove Smith was a boy in 1798 and he claims his age is 128.

HILL SCORES LEGISLATORS

WASHINGTON, May 27.—James J. Hill, the railroad magnate, told Big Business, in a letter read at the opening of the national foreign trade convention here today, that the terms "humanitarian and its fellow, social justice," are "familiar cloaks of legislative cowardice or incapacity that does not dare apply the real remedy to the obvious disease."

WARRANT NOT SERVED.

United States Marshal R. J. Flint of Madison was in the city yesterday. He returned unserved the warantr in the case of the United States vs. Bert Allen for breaking the seal of a box car at River Junction. This was done because the United States is only interested in matters concerning the stealing of goods from interstate shipments.

TAKE NO LESSON FROM RAILROADS

Utilities Put Up Futile Fight Against Rate Regulation and Failure Is Now Predicted

NEW LONDON, Wis., May 27.—The colossal insurance corporations of the United States and Europe, backed by their millions, are organizing a campaign to forestall all state regulation of their rates, as permitted under the recent decision of the supreme court of the United States. They will enter actively into politics. The reason they want no change—out of $100 paid for fire premiums for the United States, the people get back only about $50, the other $50 going for expenses, dividends and surplus.

In Wisconsin the people get back only $40 out of every $100 fire premiums. The people paid $250 for every $100 returned for losses.

Out of $7,349,743 premiums paid stock companies in Wisconsin in 1913, less than $2,526,859 was returned in losses last year.

On the same basis as other states the Wiconsin premiums for 1913 should have been $1,500,000 less. Yet the law to regulate rates was beaten in the last Wisconsin legislature by a political disturbance.

Fire prevention should reduce the country's annual $225,000,000 loss by at least one-half and possibly to the $40,000,000 that it ought to be according to Eureopean experience.

Fire insurance companies are in greater danger from shrinkage of premiums through fire prevention reductions in losses than from state insurance. State insurance must be a matter of gradual development. Insurance interests now use it as a bogey to foil legislation for immediate regulation of rates.

Before entering politics, the companies might take a lesson from the experience of the railroads. There is still time to keep out of the political maelstrom.

These points were made by Insurance Commissioner Herman L. Ekern in an address before Group 6 of the

"Fling Out, Fling Out, With Cheer and Shout To All The Winds Our Country's Banner"

Praise the Power that has made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must when our cause it is just.
And this be our motto, "In God is our trust."
And the Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave.
—Star-Spangled Banner.

What patriot is not interested in seeing every citizen wearing a flag on Memorial Day? To do so betokens loyalty to country, reverence to its banner and gratitude to the veterans whose deeds that day are celebrated.

Mothers, fathers, teachers, pastors—send the children to The Tribune office to get a free flag. Tell them that to decorate themselves with this glorious bit of bunting is part of the observance of Decoration Day. And you "grown-ups," too, are invited to come and help yourselves to flags.

The Old Soldiers want us to wear them—surely we can do this much in recognition of their services. And WE WILL. The person who does not wear or carry a flag on Memorial Day will be in the conspicuous minority.

What greater honor than to march
And with the flag brigade enroll;
To wear our country's heart and soul—
"Old Glory" in our button-hole!

DUNN OFFERS THE A. B. C. MEDIATORS COUPON BALLOT

Would Insure Against Corruption in Mexican Election to Follow Settlement of W.

DUPLICATION MAKES FRAUD PROOF

Old Mexican Methods of Coercing and Cheating Would Be Impossible with This Ballot

IGNORANT CAN VOTE WITH IT

Men Who Cannot Read Can Ballot Readily and Accurately with Wisconsin Man's Ticket

Giving as references the names of Bryan, La Follette, Owens and Esch, Moncena Dunn today wired the A. B. C. mediators at Niagara Falls an offer of the free use of the coupon ballot in the Mexican election which it is anticipated will be held in case war matters are adjusted.

Mr. Dunn's telegram to the mediators follows:

"United States and Mexican Board of Mediators, Niagara Falls, Ont., Can.

"The Coupon Ballot, used in Wisconsin, invented and patented by me, hereby offered for Mexican election, FREE.

"Have demonstrated to many leading statesmen only possible method eliminate fraud.

"Illiterates vote it fast and confidently. Voter votes secretly in duplicate. One part counted election day, the other available for recount, having been sealed since voter voted.

"At your service. Will present personally and prove this if requested. Personal references, Secretary Bryan, Senator La Follette, Senator Owens, Congressman Esch of Wisconsin, Crosser, Ohio.

"MONCENA DUNN."

The notorious corruption of Mexican elections, and the ignorance of the mass of Mexican voters were the considerations which prompted Mr. Dunn to offer the use of the Coupon ballot. With the insured secrecy of balloting, and the duplicate voting making certain the detection of fraud, the matter of corruption would be taken care of by the Coupon ballot; the simplicity of the method, making it possible for the illiterate to vote readily, would make for a fair expression of preferences at the polls.

All the men given as references are acquainted with the Coupon ballot, and know Mr. Dunn either through personal meetings or correspondence.

"It is not my purpose to urge the matter," said Mr. Dunn today. "These men have a problem with which to cope. If they are interested, I shall be glad to give them the use of the Coupon ballot, and to aid them in planning for its most effective use. Full information is at their command."

STERLING, Ill., May 27.—Announcement was made here today that Miss Nettie Yoeard has given $10,000 to the foreign mission society of the Methodist church. She earned the money working as a seamstress.

WILL BE BIGGEST MEET EVER IN CITY

Normal Interscholastic Has Teams Entered from Eleven Schools

THE LOCALS HAVE BIGGEST TEAM

Fifteen Men to Represent La Crosse and Sparta Will Send Eight Participants

The interscholastic track and field meet to be held at the local fair grounds on the afternoon of Memorial day promises to be one of the largest and most successful ever held in this city. The officials of the normal school are sparing no efforts to make this meet as interesting as possible. Plans have been made to entertain large numbers of people who come with the teams from the different schools to be represented in the meet. Besides the different athletic events a band concert will be given by the normal band before the meet total number of men entered being run off the band will also play. Elaborate programs have been prepared for this meet and every other convenience possible has been arranged for.

Eleven Schools Enter

Eleven schools in this section of the state have entered the meet, the total number of men enterd bing fifty-four, the largest number of men ever entered in a meet here. Gold medals will be given to the winners of first place, silver to second and bronze to third. A cup donated by Geo. B. Rose Jewelry Co., will be given to the team winning the meet; one donated by Doerflinger's store to the team winning the relay race and another from the normal faculty to the man scoring the largest number of points. A banner will go to the team taking second place.

The local high school has the largest number of men entered in the meet, there being fifteen men. They will be hounded by their old rivals Sparta high school, which has entered eight men. La Farge and Viola, the rivals from the Kickapoo valley, will be represented with a team each and some interesting results are looked for as La Farge won the Kickapoo meet over Viola and Viola won the Platteville meet over La Farge. All of the teams represented in the meet held at West Salem some weeks ago will be here, Kendall with five men, Bangor with two, and West Salem with two.

Viroqua Has Five

Viroqua will be at the meet with five men, Ontario with two, who are said to be exceptionally fine athletes. Cassville has entered four men and Alma one. The one man for Alma brings memories of the famous Evans of that place who came to the inter-scholastic meet held by the local high school three years ago and set a state record in the 100 yard dash.

The list of events for this meet will be of the usual number. The 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash, 440 yard run; 880 yard run; mile run; 120 yard high hurdles; 220 yard low hurdles; high jump; broad jump; pole vault; shot put; discus throw, and a half mile relay race.

Committees

The officials chosen for this meet are as follows:

Games Committee—Mayor O. P. Sorensen, Wm. F. Wolfe, J. A. Elliot, Charles S. Van Auken and Pres. F. A. Cotton.

Referee—Dr. Carl B. Sputh.

CARRANZA WANTS VOICE IN CHOICE OF PRESIDENT

Rebel Leader Demands that List from Which Huerta's Successor Comes Have His O. K.

WILL SUBMIT NAMES TO MEXICANS

Congress Will Pick the Man Who Is to Succeed the Dictator Temporarily

AGREE UPON NEED OF REFORMS

Only Question of Method Separates Delegates on Solution of Land Problem

WASHINGTON, May 27. The landing of ammunition for Huerta's forces at Puerto Mexico by the German steamer Ypiranga was reported to the state department this afternoon by the United States consular representatives at that city. Announcement of this was made by Acting Secretary of State Lansing.

WASHINGTON, May 27. — That Carranza will approve the list from which Huerta's successor is to be selected or there can be no result from the Niagara Falls peace parley was said today. Carranza himself is perfectly willing to wait his own candidacy pending a general election. He has made it plain, however, that no provisional president approved by Huerta will be satisfactory to him.

Must Not Be Huertistas

The plan of submitting a list of selected names to the Mexican congress and of this body choosing one to succeed Huerta has in effect the approval of the constitutionalists. They insist, however, that these names must be men opposed to Huerta.

It is this proposition that contains the "dynamite" of the Mexican situation, according to officials here. Carranza and Villa insist that they hold Mexico in their power. They will not be robbed of the fruits of victory. Unless the mediators take their views, they will refuse to be bound by mediation.

Meanwhile congress continues to chafe over the lack of authentic information regarding what is going on bthind the scenes. Even the chairmen of the foreign affairs committees are without knowledge. Criticism may develop into attack should affairs turn out, as is intimated in news dispatches from the Canadian border, that the United States has modified its demand for the unconditional retirement of Huerta.

"Conversations" Favorable

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 27.—So favorable have been the "conversations" between the A. B. C. mediators and the two sets of delegates attempting to settle the future of Mexico that it was believed today another full conference which might possibly be called tomorrow, will pave the way for early settlement.

Agree to Land Reform

Following reports of differences of opinion between the Mexican and American delegates on the land problem, it was stated on the highest authority today that this question was the least of the troubles confronted by the mediators. It is realized that the establishment of any new government in the republic without land reforms would only mean another revolution. Any provisional government that may be established will be pledged to land reforms, including a plan for the redistribution. The Mexican delegates admit such reforms should be a part of the pacification plan.

The mediators may only take up such matters as the delegates propose and it will rest with the American representatives to suggest some move toward removing this fundamental cause of all revolutionary movements.

Those close to the Mexican delegates do not believe that any direct plan of land reform will be put down in black and white as a part of the final agreement. But they do believe that the Mexican delegates will know exactly what the United States expects in the solution of this problem, and that the delegates will have the power of the American government behind them in seeing that the reforms proposed are carried out.

The delegates were to be the guests this afternoon at a garden party given by Sir John Gibson and Lady Gibson at Toronto. They left here at 9:30 a. m.

THIS store will be Open next Friday Evening, May 29th until 10 P. M.

SPOTLIGHTS

"ACROSS THE DESERT"

H. Walter Van Dyke's great American play, "Across the Desert," which is to be at the La Crosse theater, Decoration day, next Saturday, May 30, one night only—in case of rain a special matinee in the afternoon—enjoys the distinction of having played to the capacity of every theater at which it has made its appearance. The play is founded on fact, and verifies the oft quoted adage that "truth is stranger than fiction." The plot deals with the kidnaping of "Madge Hampton" from the home of wealthy parents on Fifth avenue, New York. It tells of her life on the bowery, her final removal to the west by "Richard Lewis," who, as many readers will remember, was known in Arizona as a Mexican gambler under the assumed name of "Manuel Torres."

In 1901 she was followed by her bowery sweetheart, "Jimmy Hearne," who joined the wagon train previous to its start across the Arizona desert.

The desert scene at night is a wonderful piece of stage realism. One of the most thrilling characters in the cast is that of the Indian "Wamego." Indian characters have often been offered to the public, but "Wamego" as presented by H. Walter Van Dyke stands out strikingly.

From an ignorant savage, through the teachings of "Sister Constance," a lovable and very important character in the play—he becomes a student and a scholar—but in the last act, when he meets the man who wronged him, the man who murdered his sweetheart, the feeling of vengeance overcomes the teachings of civilization and he takes the life of his enemy.

"NAPOLEON"

In presenting "The Rise and Fall of Napoleon," one of the most striking productions ever staged, the Napoleon Film company spared neither time or expense to make it a masterpiece long to be remembered. This is the first time an attempt has been made to portray the complete brilliant career of the great emperor in living picture form, and the subject will be voted one of the greatest triumphs of film production and will be ranked among the classics of motion pictures.

The subject is not belittled by some petty intrigue, having no bearing on the real issue, but interwoven with the historical interest is the pathetic love story of Napoleon and Josephine, conceded to be the most romantic in history.

The part of Napoleon is taken by Mr. M. Charly of the Theater Antoine, Paris, and is a wonderful characterization of the great emperor, who as the dominating figure, is presented faithfully in mannerisms, gait and poise, by this eminent actor to whom the role was assigned.

Owes Her Life to This Lung Medicine

Sufferers from Consumption should take the trouble to investigate what Eckman's Alterative has accomplished in restoring others to health. Read this:

Griffith, Lake Co., Ind.

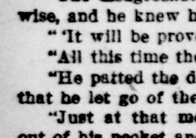

"Gentlemen:—About Sept. 10th, 1908, my mother-in-law was taken sick with Catarrhal Pneumonia, which developed into Tuberculosis. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's church, at Schererville, Ind., prepared her for death, he recommended that I get Eckman's Alterative, and see if it would not give her some relief. The attending physician declared she had consumption and was beyond all medical aid. Practically without hope for recovern, I insisted that she try the Alterative, which she did. I am glad to say that she soon began to improve. Now she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took sick and is in good health."

"How dare you take my dog?" he said.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Dog's Master Won The Case

THE stories about dogs always delighted Evelyn, and daddy knew she would be pleased when he said:

"I have a story to tell you tonight about a dog."

"Hurrah!" said Evelyn, and Jack looked just as pleased too.

"There was once a man who had a little dog to which he was very devoted. Now, this dog was very cunning and had such a pretty face that every one noticed him. People passing by the master and his dog would say:

"'Did you ever see such a dear little dog?'

"But, alas, one day some one who thought he was a very good looking little dog and that he would no doubt bring a good price stole him.

"The master was heartbroken. He looked everywhere for his little dog and put advertisements in the papers with a very clear description of just what his dog looked like.

"Two days had passed when he saw his dog on the street, being taken on a leash by a very disagreeable looking man to a dog shop.

"With a bound the dog wrenched himself from the leash and jumped up on his master with the delight that only a dog can show.

"The master petted him and took him up in his arms, and the dog nestled down so happily.

"'How dare you take my dog?' said the disagreeable looking man.

"'It seems to act as if it were my dog, doesn't it?' asked the dog's master.

"'Well, it's not. You probably showed the dog a piece of bone, for you will admit you would like to own such a fine looking dog. That was a very clever trick of yours, but it won't do. I shall go to the judge about this.'

"'Do,' said the master, who wasn't a bit frightened, now that he safely had his little dog in his arms.

"Together they went to the courthouse. There they waited until the judge could hear their case.

"The disagreeable man talked better than the master, but the judge was wise, and he knew how to decide the matter.

"'It will be proved,' said he, 'who owns the dog by the dog himself.'

"All this time the judge had been holding the dog on the end of his leash.

"He patted the dog and said, 'Now you tell us who is your master.' With that he let go of the dog.

"Just at that moment the disagreeable looking man pulled an old bone out of his pocket and held it toward the dog.

"But the dog never so much as sniffed at it, for with a bound he had jumped up on his real master, and the judge said:

"'The dog has decided the case for me. Now you may all go.'"

SENIOR PLAY TO BE NOTED PIECE

Forbes-Robertson's Famous Vehicle "Mice and Men" Is Class Undertaking

"Mice and Men," written by Madeleine Lucette Ryley, is a romantic comedy in four acts, depicting the love story of Mark Embury, an old scientist and philosopher, who has conceived the idea of training a girl to his ideal of a perfect woman, and marrying her when she is of suitable age. Captain Lovell, Embury's nephew falls in love with the ward. After a struggle with himself Embury gives Peggy to him. The tone of simplicity and quiet humor throughout the play makes a pretty story.

Forbes Robertson, as Mark Embury, played Mice and Men in England in 1902 and at present is using it in his farewell tour in America. The play, published by the Samuel French Pub. Co., of New York, carries a heavy royalty. It will be presented by the Senior class of the High school at the La Crosse Theater on Friday evening, May 29, under the direction of Miss May Dunn and those who have seen the work of the students speak in very high terms of it.

The work of the cast has been exceptionally good and a great success is expected. The play is being coached by Miss Dunn of the High school. The cast follows:

Mark Embury—William Walker.
Roger Goodlake—Henry Evjen.
Captain Lovell—Azel Barney.
Sir Harry Timblestone—Russell Cone.
Kit Barniger—Paul Marcou.
Peter—Alvin Bartheld.
Johanna Goodlake—Georgina Berg
Mrs. Deborah—Marion Dawson.
Peggy—Edith Weisbord.
Matron of the Foundling Hospital—Marion Neprud.
Beadle of the Foundling Hospital—Julien Bloom.
Molly—Helen Clarke.

Orphans from Foundling Home: Martha Skaar, Clara Klaus, Marie Farrell, Villa Layland, Lora Palmer, Dorothy Blatter, Mildred Levis, Edith Weisbord, Alice Taylor, Marie Webster.

Masqueraders: Marion Neprud, Julien Bloon, Beth Keizer, Minnie Olson, Arthur Nelson, Griselda Rupp, Helen Clarke, Alice Taylor, Winifred Forbes, Clarence Alleman and Floyd Bovee.

ROB AGED LAND SEEKER

APPLETON, Wis., May 27.—Gustave Randt of Indiana, aged 75, informed the police that he had walked from Rhinelander to this city, 134 miles, after having been robbed. He said he went to Rhinelander to purchase land and that two men, posing as land agents, drove him into the woods, robbed him of his money and put him out of the rig.

IF SKIN ITCHES AND BREAKS OUT APPLY SULPHUR

Get Ounce of Bold-Sulphur Cream and Heal Eczema Eruptions Right Up

For years, common bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous affections, by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also anti-pruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin.

The moment you apply it to an itching or broken out skin the itching stops and the healing begins, says a noted dermatologist. Just common bold-sulphur made into a thick cream effects such prompt and remarkable results, even in aggravated Eczema that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the angry itching and irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Any good pharmacist will supply an ounce of bold-sulphur cream which should be applied to the irritated or inflamed parts, like the ordinary cold creams. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the eruption is accompanied with itching.

"HUNCH" FAMOUS THE WORLD OVER

Cheerfulest Character That Ever Smoked a Jimmy Pipe or Rolled a Cigarette

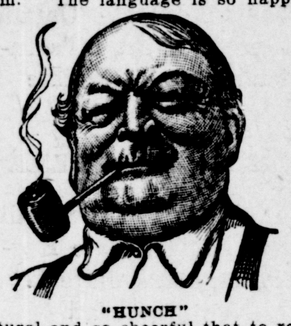

HOW HE WAS CREATED

Featured in One of a Remarkable Series of Advertisements Which Starts in Tomorrow

Beginning tomorrow, the most unique and interesting series of advertisements ever printed in these columns will appear at regular intervals. It is all about Prince Albert, "the national joy smoke" tobacco. This publicity is notable from the standpoint of reading interest and illustrative treatment.

Prince Albert advertising has long been a feature of the country's magazines and it is so original and appealingly human in both text and illustration that people everywhere follow it with keenest interest.

You read it (in the language of Prince Alert) "for what ails you" and it will help you to "hear the bees buzz and the little birds sing early in the a. m." The language is so happily natural and so cheerful that to read one advertisement makes you feel you want to read more and more, just as you anxiously await new chapters of a continued story.

There's a lot of quaint humor in the "copy" and oddity and humanness of expression. It seems to "inject some real sunshine into your system." That's because it's just natural talk about how good Prince Albert really is.

The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. have received thousands of letters about their advertising. Folks just seem to get "happy" over it. You will.

Illustrations are as unique as the reading matter. Some of the greatest character artists in the country have contributed to this new series.

It will interest everyone to know that the odd picture printed herewith was named "Hunch" and is probably the most famous of a long series of notable illustrations. You know him—everyody knows him! That's why he's so popular. He appears in large size in one of this new series of ads. By the way, we recently asked the R. J. Reynolds Toacco Co. whether "Hunch" was sketched from life or was just "created." We found that "Hunch" does not exist in real life.

It is said that when the artist was given his instructions he was told to create a character "who lived in a small country town, who was always at the station when the train came in, knew everybody's business better than his own, was always broke, with money 'just in sight'; happy natured and just kind of glad he was alive if he had his jimmy pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert."

"Hunch" was the result! Now he's famous all over the nation. The series of ads that starts tomorrow will certainly interest you.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

FROM THE BRIDE'S BOOK

By LOLA AVIS KERNOCHAN

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

When her husband had gone to business, Allison Hunt slipped out on the cool veranda and dropped into a chair behind the honeysuckle vine. In the kitchen the maid was washing the breakfast dishes. Upstairs the nursemaid was dressing Tommy, Jr.

"And here I am—free to go ahead!" realized Allison.

She had waited long for such a chance. Ever since the little bride across the street had come to nestle in her bower of June roses, Allison had had a wonderful plan in her head. It was a plan whose execution would require a full day.

"Yet, now that the time is here," thought Allison, "I'm almost afraid to begin!"

On the other hand, however, she was almost afraid not to begin. Tom had seemed so changed of late. Sometimes it seemed as if she were losing his love altogether. It was imperative that she take some step to rekindle it.

And she could do no better to this end than to take a leaf from the little bride's book. Day after day she had watched the slight girl-wife flying about making her nest attractive to her young husband. It seemed as if she worked some little change in the house or the garden every day. The entire neighborhood had formed the habit of being about in the evenings when the young husband returned from work; smilingly it watched the oblivious young couple as they hovered over the newest change.

But Allison had watched them only sadly. The joy with which the young husband turned up his walk reminded her of the eagerness that used to glow in Tom's face—but three years ago, when she was a bride.

"How he loved my little extravagances!" she recalled wistfully. "Sometimes it almost seems to me that his joy in our home left him when I learned to economize."

This thought had given her the great plan. She would turn spendthrift again! She would no longer quench the wild impulse to spend which swept over her every now and then; she would no longer be a model wife. She had always observed that in novels men rarely chose the women best suited for domesticity—indeed, seemed to love the inefficient type the most. Now she would have the opportunity of seeing if this was true of flesh and blood men.

"I'll just spend—for all the time I've been good!" she cried recklessly, as she sprang to her feet and started into the house.

Up to her room she flew. She snatched up the pocketbook containing the month's money.

"Ninety dollars," she counted out. "That ought to work a few changes about the place."

Oh! how glorious it was to sit at the telephone and say calmly to the florist:

"Suppose you send around two potted palms, and enough roses to cover the roots of the veranda vines—all the way around the veranda; and enough pansies to fill a three-foot bed. I want the flowers blooming—all of them."

She chuckled like a naughty child as she hung up the receiver.

"Now for a boy to dig the pansy bed," she hurried on.

It was not hard to find a boy. Within five minutes she had one hard at work on the front lawn.

A vivid color had flown to her cheeks when she returned to the telephone and gave the number of a dealer in rustic furniture. She looked more like a girl than she had for months as she made her second order.

"Will you please send around to Mrs. Thomas Hunt one of those rustic veranda swings with the heavy brass chains, the kind you have in your window? You might send a rustic tabouret, and two big chairs, too. If I like them, I'll take them."

She positively trembled now as she hung up the receiver.

Yet she went recklessly on. It had been so long since she had spent prodigally. Her next extravagance was a set of four hanging ferneries, which the florist, who had just arrived, had brought on the chance of her wanting.

"The only one in town," he tempted. "Them rustic pots and them brass chains will look pretty swell hanging up between your honeysuckle vines."

The brass chains settled it; she had to have them. She answered quickly, for fear she would change her mind.

As she started to put the flowers in, she went inside. Wearily she dropped into one of the big sitting room chairs. She had only $20 left.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" she wailed.

Yet it must be confessed, she was not wailing over the money spent—not yet; she was wondering if she dared spend the remaining twenty dollars!"

"I do need a tea set so badly to go on that rustic tabouret!" she longed. "A green one would be irresistible."

It was irresistible. Within the hour she had chosen one down street. At 3 o'clock that afternoon it was on the tabouret.

And at 4 o'clock Allison, dressed in a cool, green and white striped voile, was sitting in the new hanging swing nervously thinking over her sins.

"Oh, here comes Mrs. Grenville!" she cried, watching a spare, darkly dressed woman pick her way over the lawn. "Of course she's come to hear all about the changes."

But Mrs. Grenville did not hear about the changes. She heard a low, melodious ripple of rather nervous general talk. She received a cup of delicious tea from the new green teapot. Although she remarked upon the delightful color scheme, she was able to evoke very little that was satisfactory regarding the sudden change.

At last the caller went. Allison sank back in the swing limply. She covered her face with her hands. The woman's talk had irritated her. She wanted to think—to regret with all her heart the reckless expenditures. Why, why, had she done it? Had she actually planned it deliberately?

In looking back over it now it seemed incredible that she had. "I surely didn't plan it," she told herself, repeatedly. "I did it because I was swept away by that old, old love of spending. Why, I'd have been mad to think that Tom could care more about a wife as foolish—as lawless—as that!"

Then came the hour for Tom's homecoming. Instead of waiting for him at the door, as usual, Allison just crept into his den and curled herself up miserably in his big leather chair.

"What's the use of seeing the displeasure on his face?" she thought. "I can picture it well enough."

Here he found her. He came into the room with quick, sharp steps.

"Allison!" he cried. "What does this all mean?"

She lifted a tear-wet face.

"That I've spent the month's money," she said; "that I've been carried away by that old love of spending. Oh, Tom, I've spent it all—$90! Oh, what are you going to do, divorce me?"

To her amazement, she felt Tom's arms suddenly close around her. His face above hers, held not anger, but that old look of eager interest that had been there when she was a bride.

"Why, little girl!" he said in the soft, lenient tone he had used long ago. "Why, don't you think I'll forgive you? Do you think I expect a girl your age to be a model? To tell you the truth, Allison, I'm glad you did it. I'm glad you haven't lost that spontaneity that I married you for!"

INDIVIDUAL EGG SALADS.

Take an egg for each guest and boil until hard. When cold remove shells. Cut a slice from each end, and with a small spoon remove the yolk, just working from one end. This will leave a cup of white. To the yolks add some finely mixed celery and olives, and mayonnaise dressing. Work them well together, then fill into the cavities. Place the slices removed from one end on top. Set each egg on its flat end in individual lettuce cups, and place a spoonful of mayonnaise around the egg. Sprinkle the top over with finely chopped parsley.—Mother's Magazine.

THE WISDOM OF FORSIGHT

Alderman William Torrance's plan to district the city for the purpose of compelling ice dealers to take care of all homes, regardless of inconvenience, is a wise precaution. At least one section of the city was menaced this spring with lack of ice, owing to the declination of dealers to cover it, and that it escaped was due to a subdealer having arranged to take care of it on the basis of so much per pound.

The council should back the Torrance plan. Residents should not be left at the mercy of whims which may control the operations of ice dealers. Delivery to every residence asking for ice should be made compulsory, and the responsibility should be fixed.

THE REGULAR STALWART SEMI-ANNUAL FAILURE

The outlook for the progressive movement in the campaign this year in Wisconsin is bright. The stalwarts have made desperate efforts during the past six months to stampede the state. Their efforts have been a pitiable failure. The county tax protest conventions drew in a few who did not belong with the old stalwart organization, but most of these deserted when they discovered the company they were in. The high tax campaign has already been exploded as an effective issue against progressive legislation, partly by the figures that have been published, and partly by the over inflation of the propagandists. It has served to open the ears of the public to information of the many beneficial progressive laws and progressive functions of the state government. The public is more ready to listen to an exposition of the new safeguards and instruments of democracy than for several years. And the opportunity will be improved, with the result that a decisive endorsement will be given the progressive movement in September and November, and the movement be more firmly established than ever.

It may have seemed at times as though the campaign was to be lost by default. But in a short time the issues and candidacies will take definite shape and the progressives will be in the field with a strong front and an active management.

THEN AND NOW

A little over two years ago "T. R." returned from a hunting expedition in Africa. It was a triumphal event. There was great to-do all over the land. Shrieking warships heralded his landing, and a rush of solons and newspaper men swept across the country to meet him and do him honor. Slugged type and seven-column heads were the order of the day. At the Outlook office, and in Oyster Bay, he was besieged by eminent callers.

A few days ago "T. R." returned from a hunting trip in South America. He came quietly. His landing was unostentatious, and only a few personal friends joined his family in greeting the returned adventurer. The newspapers gave him a couple of "stickfuls" under modest heads.

Why the difference?

Munsey, Perkins and the legalized-trust program? The prostitution of the bull moose party to trust domination? The New Haven scandal made possible by his permission?

Perhaps, instead of bagging cats in Brazil, "T. R." should have stayed at home to keep the fellows from "letting the cat out of the bag."

STARS AND STRIPES FOR MEMORIAL DAY

The Tribune is glad to again co-operate with the veterans of the G. A. R. and the Spanish-American war in the distribution of flags for Memorial day. This day, as we observe it, is a better builder of patriotism than Independence Day. A great noise does not arise to shock us into insensibility of the finer sentiments. We touch elbows with our reverent veterans, and lay hands upon the graves of patriots. We wonder, as we decorate those graves, whether, as the dying poet, Keats, said, they "feel the flowers growing over them."

And how preferable the flag to the cannon cracker as an emblem of country-love! Put them in the hands of the old men and of the little children. Let none in the thronging thousands be without the stars and stripes. Let the schools pour out their hundreds of young Americans all decorated with that glorious bit of bunting.

There will be flags for all at The Tribune business office.

CHINA DOMES.

A Dome made of china and designed by manufacturers of art ware and decorative dinner sets for use with electric lamps is now being placed on the market. The dome is made of opaque china, a high-grade clay being used in its manufacture. The body of the dome is snowy-white, and the surface, both interior and exterior, is provided with a velvety glaze. Domes of this type can be embellished with a variety of decorative colors, and as the colors are burned in the china, the decorations do not deteriorate or become tarnished.—Electrical World.

Nowhere.

Where can I find,
O tell me right,

That's not too tight?

Where can I find,
In vain I've prayed,
A pumpkin pie
Like mother made?

Where can I find,
O prithee tell,
A baby who
Forgets to yell?

Where can I find
Two wives who sit
And do not gossip
Just a bit?

Where can I find
A taxi bloke
Whom I can hire
And not go broke?

Where can I find

Who does not know
More than his dad?

Well—Isn't It?

A school teacher was reading a story to a class of very small folks and paused at the words "lay brother" to explain their meaning. "Does any one know what 'lay brother' means?" she asked.

For a moment a row of perplexed little faces looked up at her. Then one face brightened suddenly and a small voice piped, "Yes, ma'am—it's a rooster!"—Youth's Companian.

A Lifesaver.

"Dear me!" she said, "I wonder what has become of that book of household recipes?"

He didn't say a word.

"There was a bread recipe in it that I wanted to try."

He smiled, for now he was assured that he had done wisely when he burned it.

Preparations.

Governor Tener of Pennsylvania, the new president of the National league, said at a baseball banquet in New York:

"Success in baseball depends on preparation, on training. They who fail in baseball have either been slack in their preparations, or else they have prepared, like Jethro Higgins of Conshohocken, in the wrong way.

"The minister, you know, came to Jethro's house one afternoon to a christening party—he was to christen Jethro's little son, Jeth, Jr.

"'Jethro,' said the minister, solemnly, taking his host aside before the ceremony, 'Jethro, are you prepared for this solemn event?'

"'O, yes, indeed, doctor,' Jethro beamed. 'I've got two hams, three gallons ice cream, pickles, cake—

"'No, no, Jethro,' said the minister, with a smile, 'no, no, my friend. I mean spiritually prepared.'

"'Well, I guess yes! Two demijohn's of whisky and three cases of beer!' Jethro cried in triumph."—Washington Star.

The Rural Critic.

As a certain young artist of New York sat upon his stool one day in the Adirondacks, doing a bit of "mountain stuff," there approached him from the rear a native evidently with ideas of his own touching art. "Did you ever try photography?" asked the newcomer. "No," was the curt response of the young artist, who continued his work. "It's a good deal quicker," suggested the native. "I suppose it is," surlily assented the painter, with another dab of the brush. "And," the native added, with a dash of malice, "a good deal more like the place."—Lippincott's.

Explaining the Bald Head.

"This," said the chemist's assistant, "is a wonderful hair restorer. It's our own preparation."

"Well, give me a bottle," said the baldheaded man. "But, I say, come to think of it, why don't you use it? You're pretty bald yourself."

"I can't use it. You see, I'm the 'Before Using assistant.' The 'After Using assistant' is out at lunch. You should see him!"

Not in Good Standing.

It was several days after the New Year's resolutions had all been made and broken that an acquaintance of ours met another acquaintance of some other fellow's on the street. The second person was in a deplorable condition mentally, morally, physically, etc., relates the Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

"Why, my dear fellow," said our acquaintance, "it really shocks me to see you like this. I thought you joined a total abstinence society on Jan. 1!"

"I did," wept the other, with feeling. "I did! But whadda y' think? I forgot to pay my dues this month!"

Bless Her Heart.

The accomplished and obliging pianist had finished several selections in the hotel parlor, and the guests were discussing other numbers. One turned to an elderly lady and said: "Now for instance, there is Mozart's 'Twelfth Mass.' You remember that, Mrs. Hiscomb?"

"Remember it? I should say so. Why, my husband served through the war in that very regiment!"—Argonaut.

When a young widow is wise and a bachelor is otherwise it's up to the parson.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

"How Glorious, How Grand "TIZ" Makes Tired, Swollen, Sore, Sweaty, Calloused Feet Feel

"Just couldn't wait to take my hat off!"

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." Its grand its glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot tortre.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

CRUST ON HEAD ITCHED AND BURNED

So Would Wake Up Nights and Cry. Head Bare in Spots. Cured Entirely in Six Weeks by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

Rockford, Ia. — "My little girl had a hard crust form on her head. Her head had a rash on it and it itched and burned so she would wake up nights and cry. Then it formed into sores and then it turned into a dry crust, and when I combed her hair great locks would come out. Her head was bare of hair in spots.

"Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they cured her entirely in six weeks and her hair came in lovely. At that time she was about ten years old and now she is twenty-six and has never had any more trouble." (Signed) Mrs. H. J. Wadey, Dec. 14, 1912.

PAINFUL ITCHING AND BURNING

269 Jackson St., Milwaukee, Wis. — "My trouble began with small speckles on my chest, arms and legs. Later it took the form of little blisters which caused painful itching and burning. In the day I was tormented by the clothing which irritated the eruption and in the night I lost rest from the itching. I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment finding relief in the first day of treatment. In one week I was well." (Signed) Joseph Caseone, Nov. 30, 1912.

For treating poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have been the world's favorites for more than a generation. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

The Great New Historical Romance

John O' Jamestown

By VAUGHN KESTER

Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

I took my seat and stared about me curiously. On each side of the stage, which extended far out into the yard, were boxes, one of which was filled with musicians, who were now making a mighty flourish with their instruments, which drowned out every other sound. A gentleman who was sitting near me said it was the second sounding and that presently there would be a third, after which the play would begin. Seeming to sense it that I was a countryman, he pointed out to me that in addition to the boxes, which were filled with splendidly dressed galiants, there were also seats on the stage itself where one might sit for an extra sixpence; indeed, these sats were already filled by a score or more of young men of fashion who were smoking pipes of tobacco, and who were the subject of much merriment on the part of the groundlings in the yard, whose wit was of the frankest sort. But it was not an audience of men alone; there were a number of women in the galleries, dressed like fine ladies, in rich silk gowns, taffeta petticoats, and with gold threads in their hair, as was the fashion.

As my glance wandered abolut the place there fell under my eye a man in one of the boxes, and though a goodly number of years had passed since my last meeting with him, I was sure it was Captain Maxwell. The music sounded for a third time and the play began, but I had lost all relish for what was going forward on the stage. I scarcely took my eyes off of Captain Maxwell, and when before the play was half over I saw that he was preparing to leave the place, I hurried after him. He went toward the Falcon Tavern, which he entered, but came forth again almost immediately accompanied by a young man who, from a certain family likeness, I judged was none other than his nephew, Nevil Maxwell. They crossed to the stairs and I followed, determined to learn if possible where they lodged in the city. It was a knowledge that might be useful to me, I argued.

My boat kept in the wake of theirs as they were rowed across the Thames. They landed at Queenhithe, and I followed them at a safe distance so they could not know their steps were being dogged. They went in toward Paul's ruined tower, and presently just in advance of me entered the church. That noble building seemed wholly abandoned to the common uses of the people. Men were hurrying from side to side carrying bundles, there were peddlers even, with their wares, who did not hesitate to stop the passer-by and solicit trade. As Captain Maxwell and his nephew passed out of the building I heard an exclamation and a quick step beside me, and I was rudly jostled by a tall lean fellow in a frayed doublet.

"Damn you, sir, where are your eyes!" he shouted, and without waiting for my reply, which would have been to the point, since his violence had all but knocked me down, he thrust past me and dashed away at top speed.

It flashed upon me as I hurried from the church that he was in pursuit of Maxwell, too, and I was not mistaken in this conjecture, for I was just in time to see him overtake them, when without ceremony he seized the Captain by the shoulder and swung him about so that they stood facing each other. Maxwell's assailant, though not in his first youth, had a certain wild energy. His face was distorted by rage and hatred, yet even so there was something familiar there, some feature, some trick of expression that I had known, though it defied me to place it, but I was sure I had seen that fierce eye, and those straight black locks that swept the collar of his rusty doublet; but where?

For a moment he stood facing Maxwell without a word, and then I heard him call the Captain a thief and villain, and he followed this up by loosing a perfect torrent of oaths and abuse. He released the Captain and fell back a step, while his hand closed on the hilt of his sword.

"My God—you—and alive!" I heard Maxwell say in a hoarse whisper.

"I were much better dead!" cried the other, with a wild look, and his long brown fingers plucked at the hilt of his sword, and I heard him say through his clenched teeth:

"If you are a man you will give me what I crave!" and out flashed his sword.

He did not wait for Maxwell to draw, but lunged furiously at him. Luckily, whose face had gone white his uncle, whose face had gone white as death, struck up his blade. The fierce-eyed stranger turned on him with an oath.

"This is our quarrel, sir," ne cried. "Do you keep out of it!"

"By your leave, I'll do nothing of the sort," rejoined young Maxwell.

"I tell you I have no desire to harm you," said the stranger.

"Nor I any desire to be harmed—for that reason——" and Mr. Maxwell threw himself into a posture of defence.

The other gave him a contemptuous glance, sprang forward, and young Maxwell's sword was knocked from his hand.

A crowd was gathering swiftly about the three, and Nevil Maxwell's sword was picked up and obligingly returned to him, for the prevailing impression was that the trouble lay between him and the tall fellow. But just here some one raised a cry that the watch was coming, and a burly porter sang out:

"To your heels, gentlemen— and better luck next time!"

Captain Maxwell and his nephew turned, and the crowd made way for them; their tatterdemalion assailant cast a hurried look about, and as the watch came up panting, sheathed his sword and made off.

CHAPTER EIGHT.

By ten o'clock the next day I was in Aldersgate Street, but it perplexed me not a little that it was Lady Bellesly and not Mary who presently came into the room whither I had been shown by the servant. Her ladyship began very sweet, though it was a sweetness that I mistrusted.

OVERCOME BY HEAT MAN IN AMBULANCE RISES AND LEAVES

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., May 27.—A search of the entire city for John DePagper by the police, sheriff's force and dozens of private citizens was of no avail Tuesday afternoon.

DePagper is a hack driver, who was overcome by the heat. Placed in the automobile ambulance he was hurried toward a hospital. It was necessary to cross a railroad track and the crossing was blocked by a long, slow-moving freight train.

While those in charge of the auto went into the offices of the Crocker Chair company to ask if De Pgper might be brought in, as the effect of the heat in the street was feared, he regained consciousness and left the machine. He has not since been seen.

BUILT ON FORECASTS

Study of the weather reports from day to day helped an Iowa man to build up one of the largest wholesale fruit businesses in the middle west. His method was simple. Most small fruits, and particularly strawberries and raspberries, spoil easily when picked wet. This man shifted his orders so as to avoid buying from sections subjected to recent rains. A result was that he gained a reputation throughout the trade for the excellent quality of his stock. —Allan P. Ames, in "The World's Work."

How to Get Rid Of Skin Trouble

A Handsome Skin Book Free That Will Guide You.

So many people fuss in despair over stubborn skin afflictions that some rules laid down in connection with the use of S. S. S. for the blood will be of great value. These are outlined in a hand book, finely illustrated, of the many variations in skin troubles. It tells how to overcome them.

If you have been fighting some blood trouble, some skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, or what you will, ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the East. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy today, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 535 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not permit anyone to talk you into a substitute for S. S. S.

TELLS FISHERS TO OBSERVE THE LAW

State Game Warden Requests that They Peruse the Statutes to Prevent Clash with Warden

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—The open season for game fish of all kinds begins Saturday, May 30. Non-residents of the state, over 15 years old and excepting women, must pay a license fee of $1. Licenses are issued by the state game warden's office, deputy wardens, county clerks and at summer resorts where fishing is popular.

"From our reports,' said State Game Warden John A. Sholts today, "there appears to be an abundance of all kinds of game fish in the streams of the state. Summer resorts are plentiful, especially in the northern part, and non-residents who came to enjoy real sport will find no dearth of good fishing grounds. The northland abounds in these resorts, where the finny tribe of all kinds, from the sturdy muskellonge to the striped perch are found in great numbers.

"My advice to all prospective fishers is, 'Consult the game laws.'

"When shipments are made do not fail to mark the packages in accordance with the legal requirements. Illegally marked shipments are extremely likely to be seized by game wardens in any part of the state.

SUMMER COMPLEXION

What are you going to do for your complexion these warm summer days, when dust is in the air, and the sun burns at every turn? Never in the whole year are you quite so anxious to look your best, as now!

The quickest and most direct way of treating the blemishes that come with the hot weather is to take each one separately and apply i ts own specific remedy.

Powder is one of the causes of a poor skin at this time of the year. But this does not imply that face powders are not good for complexion: on the contrary, it can be stated that they are highly beneficial, but one must know how to use them. Powder should be applied to the face only after it has been rubbed with a good cleansing cream; and even then, it should be put on lightly and rubbed in until not a particle of it is visible.

Wash the face daily in very hot water.

Use plenty of soap, lathering the face and neck with soap jelly, and rinsing it off afterwards with a bath hose.

Let no soap remain upon the skin, but be sure that it is removed by using as many waters upon it as one has patience to apply.

After the thorough washing, the skin must have a little cream or a little skin food massaged into it. Then it is ready for further treatment.

If the cheeks are thin, or there are hollows in the neck, there is nothing so beneficial as slow massage. A gentle "spatting" of the skin will develop it and increase the flesh underneath. For a thin face five minutes "spatting" each day is advised.

Where the face and neck are too fat a heavy massage is preferable. Indeed, there are these differences in the quality of massage; that while a quick massage takes off the flesh, a slow rubbing will develop it.—The Mother's Magazine.

FRITTERS.

Pour boiling water over two teacupfuls of gooseberries and let stand until cold; drain carefully. Make a batter with a cupful of baking powder sifted with two cupfuls of flour. Add two eggs, the yolks and whites beaten separately; add the yolks to the milk, the whites last and fruit with the flour. Fry in very hot fat and serve with powdered sugar.—Mother's Magazine.

STATE WANTS TAX FROM BIG ESTATE

$100,000 Due Wisconsin from Fortune of the Late Lord Strathcona. the "Empire Builder"

MADISON, Wis., May 27. — The estates of Lord Strathcona of Canada, known as the Canadian "Empire builder," who was closely associated with James J. Hill of St. Paul in railroad building, will pay nearly $100,000 inheritance tax to the state of Wisconsin within a short time. The estate and the holdings in Wisconsin are now being investigated by John Harrington, special inheritance tax investigator for the state tax commission. The evidence gathered shows that when Lord Strathcona died on January 21 this year at the age of 93 years, he had holdings approximating $19,000,000. The Wisconsin holdings which will be taxed under the inheritance tax law as investments in the stocks of the Northern Pacific railroad approximate about $3,780,000.

Strathcona, or Donald Alexander Smith, was born in Scotland in 1820 and at the age of 18 come to Canada practically without funds and was engaged as a clerk by the Hudson Bay company. He built up his collosal fortune as a fur trader and later as a banker and a railroad builder. From 1896, Sir Donald Smith was Canadian High Commissioner in London and at the Queen's jubilee in 1897 was raised to the peerage with the title Strathcona and Mount Royal.

ROADS IN MEXICO

If General Huerta dynamites the bridges on the railroad lines between Vera Cruz and Mexico City the roads and trails will be the only routes open to the United States troops in the event of orders to advance upon the Mexican capital. The airline distance is about 200 miles and the country is characterized by extreme ruggedness. Obviously the building of roads under such conditions presents problems vastly different from those with which engineers in this country are familiar.

Throughout rural Mexico the best roads are of inferior construction and in large measure are mere trails over which pack trains may pass. These trails, however, are passable the year round. Over them a mule carrying a pack of 300 lb. will average 20 miles per day. The work involved in breaking a route through to the capital cannot be fully appreciated by those unfamiliar with construction in the tropics, with the type of labor available and the physical character of the country. The thought cannot be suppressed that an advance upon Mexico City, so glibly advocated by certain jingo interests, will probably be fraught with much hardship and loss of life. —Engineering Record.

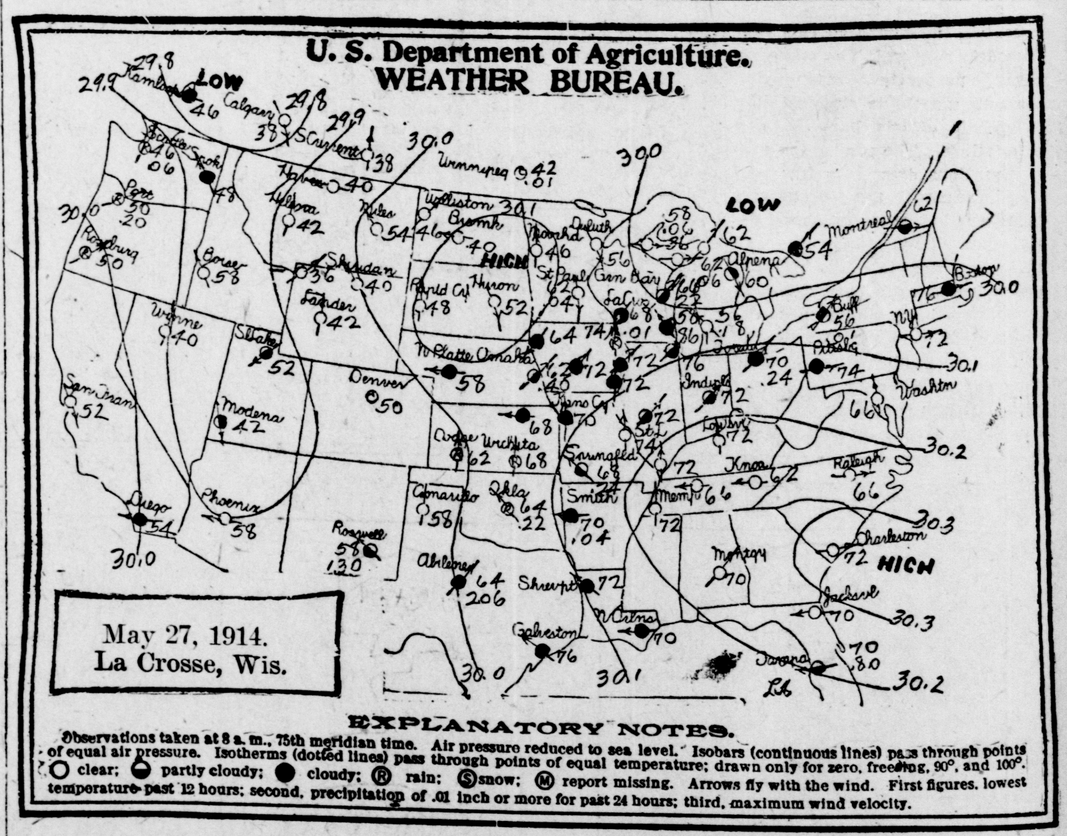

A girl doesn't think much of a love letter if there isn't a single blot on it.

A COOLIE'S WATER STILL

In a life and death battle with a cholera epidemic in Hunan Province, China, in which an American medical missionary was the leading figure, one of the most serious difficulties was met successfully by one of the menial hospital coolies. Since every patient had to have from one pint to several quarts of distilled water with salt in it, the water could not be distilled fast enough. For two days the staff struggled along with makeshifts while thinking up a plan to build a still for little money without the loss of time. In one day and at a cost of less than two dollars he built a still which later produced 20 gallons of distilled water every 24 hours.

The still was simplicity itself. For cooking food, the Chinese use large, flat saucerlike pans, made of iron. With one of these above and another below, the coolie made a drum of galvanized iron with a hole in the side for a trough. Into the lower pan hot water for boiling was poured. Underneath, a hot fire sent up a constant steam vapor. The upper kettle was kept cool by frequent changings of cold water. The vapor from the lower kettle, condensed on the lower surface of the cool upper kettle, dripped off into the trough, and filled bottle after bottle with distilled water.—The World's Work.

HUNT OLD GRADUATES

ALUMNI COMMITTEE WOULD GET ALL FORMER STUDENTS OF L. C. H. S. HOME FOR FEAST

The annual alumni banquet and dance will be given at the Odon gymnasium of the high school on the evening of Friday, June the twelfth. The committee has announced that about four hundred graduates are expected to attend. Last year there were half that number present but the committee this year is trying to locate all the old graduates and send them invitations. The committee is meeting a great deal of difficulty in this, as there is no record of old graduates of the institution except the names. Many have moved from La Crosse. In order to find out the addresses of those who cannot be otherwise reached, the committee will post the names at the high school and request that any students who know the whereabouts of any of them will report the address to the committee. A list of names will also be published in the paper and a number will be located in this manner.

Invitations will be sent out in the near future.

YANKEE WINS DERBY

DURBAR II, RIDDEN AND OWNED BY AMERICANS, LEADS THE FIELD IN ENGLISH CLASSIC

EPSOM, Eng., May 27.—In the presence of the king and queen and a brilliant throng, Durbar II, owned by H. B. Duryea, an American, and ridden by Jockey McGee, an American, won the $32,000 Epsom Downs Derby. The winner, who finished three lengths ahead, was the only American entry in the race.

Sir E. Cassel's Hapsburg was second and Peter the Hermit was third.

Contrary to expectations, the militant suffragettes made no attempt to interfere with the race.

The time-honored race, the most famous turf event in England wa worth $32,000 to the winner, wit $2,000 for second place, and $1,00 for third. The race was witnesse by a wildly enthusiastic throng, wh cheered the winner but were a bit dis appointed because of the suffragette failed to interfere. H. J. King own Peter the Hermit.

None of the favorites in the bet ting came within the money. Th preliminary odds on Durbar II wer 100 to 6.

Final betting on Durbar II wa 20 to 1; 33 to 1 on Hapsburg an 100 to I on Peter the Hermit.

CORA ANDERSON IS AT THE MAJESTIC

Man Woman Makes First Appearance in La Crosse This Afternoon and Tells Story

Cora Anderson, the man-woman, spoke at the Majestic this afternoon in the first of a series of four appearances she will give in La Crosse. She will be here for a matinee and night tomorrow.

Miss Anderson lived for thirteen years as a man, having been married twice in that time.

All of Miss Anderson's employers speak of her in the highest terms. The Cutler-Hammer Co. bailed her out when arrested and made her a present of over $100 to help her through her difficulties. This company offered her employment again.

Miss Anderson assumed the role of man in order to earn more money and because she was convinced she could live cheaper as a man than as a woman. Both of these objects she says she accomplished.

Miss Anderson makes four changes during her act. She first appears as a trained nurse, then as a bell boy, then as a stock clerk in the employ of the Cutler-Hammer Co. and finally in the attire of woman, which attire Judge Page of the Municipal court of Milwaukee, ordered her to wear hereafter.

Miss Anderson relates many instances of narrow escapes from detection and gives a very interesting explanation of her impersonation of the male sex. Her changes of costume are quickly made and the act is enhanced by them.

Although the police department of Milwaukee investigated thoroughly, nothing reflecting on Miss Anderson's character was discovered. The case is one of the most remarkable impersonations of man that has occurred in the history of the world.

When Miss Anderson has concluded her present theatrical engagements she will resume the calling of trained nurse.

TEAM OWNERS TO MEET TONIGHT

La Crosse team owners' union No. 276 will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Trade and Labor Council hall (old Eagle hall), to consider the delay of action by the city on the union's request for an increase in pay for city teams.

Other business of importance will come up.

White Slave Subtleties.

W. B. Trites, the novelist, said at a dinner at the Hotel Negresco in Nice: "I see that certain squeamish New England minds are kicking now because our school teachers give sex instruction to the little children." Mr. Trites made a gesture of protest. "But what I want to know is," he demanded, "how the deuce, without sex instruction, can the little children understand our modern plays and films?"

ASK CHAUFFEURES TO BE ADVISERS

Mrs. John Mitchel Tells Her Plans for Future; Will Depend on Aid of Men Who Started Fund

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen increased the fund for the widow and children of John Mitchel by $17 at meetings held yesterday afternoon and evening. In the evening, the homestead at its meeting, voted to donate $10 to the fund and after the meeting a grand march called the Mitchel march, was held when all present put their contributions on a chair. The Rowena Circle held a card party in the afternoon at which time $1.60 was collected for the fund.

Mrs. John Mitchel, appointed executrix of the estate of the late John Mitchell, killed by a motorcycle on Mormon Coulee road, yesterday told to Ernest Meyer and Dave Coady, the two chauffeurs who started the campaign which has brought the support of the city to Mrs. Mihchel and her ten children, her plans for the future.

Mrs. Mitchel wants the two chauffeurs, who were instrumental in starting the movement for her relief, to act as her advisers. She wants the fund which they have raised to be placed in the National Bank of La Crosse, in care of Fred H. Hankerson, so that she can draw a specified sum per month from it, to help her in taking care of the children. First, however, she wants the money collected to be applied to lifting a debt upon about forty acres of bottom land, near the ten acres which she at present occupies, which is part of the estate left by her husband.

Mrs. Mitchel declares that if the debt upon the land is lifted, and a few dollars per month are given her to help take care of the ten children, she will be able to care for the family without outside aid.

Big Explosives Output.

The bureau of mines has compiled some figures on the production of explosives in this country in 1912. It appears that there were manufactured 230,233,369 pounds of black powder, 24,630,270 pounds of permissible explosives and 234,469,492 pounds of high explosives, such as dynamite, nitroglycerin, etc. Of the high explosives 69,703,081 pounds were consumed in mining other than coal and 4,668,399 pounds of permissible explosives in the same industry.—Mining Journal.

Colonel Roosevelt speaking to neighbors at Oyster Bay.

Colonel Roosevelt stood up in his automobile at Oyster Bay's main four corners as his neighbors greeted his home coming enthusiastically. The village streets were gay with bunting, festoons and "welcome home" signs, and the greeting he received was worthy the man who put Oyster Bay on the map. To the crowd he spoke just as neighbors speak to one another. He told of the joy and happiness of finding a new grandson when he got back from the jungle. He spoke of the coming marriage of his son Kermit, and mentioned a few of his boyish pranks which put everyone, including the colonel himself, in the very best of humor.

TRICKERY LAID AT DOOR OF M'GOVERN BY SENATE CLERK

til La Follette returned to Washington, when a copy for a real pamphlet went to the printer, and several weeks later I handed it back to McCormick, about the time he was leaving us, and I wanted him to take with him all his belongings.

"These matters are history, and I recite them only to illustrate that we have a long way to go before we can undertake politics without counting on the trickery and double dealing of many of the players.

"But getting away from the individual, let us take the ethics of political movements. We have the Bull Moose party posing as the sole instrument of progressiveism. It has a candidate accessory or principal to the greatest commercial crimes of history, notably the New England transportation monoply; a main spoke of the party, Perkins, urges the five per cent increase in rates asked by the railroads to pay dividends on a criminal over capitalization; full legislation of the water now in stocks is advocated, and a legalized monoply of every article of consumption for the future. No comment is necessary upon the ethics of such a program parading in the dress of progressiveism."

EKERN TELLS OF ORGANIZED EFFORT TO DEFEAT LAWS

Wisconsin Bankers' association here today in discussing the advantage of mutual insurance for banks. The brunt of the attack of the insurance companies as expressed in editorials and magazines is being borne by Mr. Ekern, who is the author of all the progressive insurance laws that have been enacted in Wisconsin in recent years.

"In plunging into politics in Wisconsin the insurance companies are inviting the same defeat as was administered to the railroads," said Mr. Ekern. "They also show their inability to learn the lesson of the past, as well as a lack of appreciation of the patience and fairness with which these companies have been dealt with by the people of Wisconsin. If not in politics, the insurance companies and insurance companies and insurance agents are right on the brink.

Mr. Ekern quoted from a leading fire insurance publication in which it was urged that every man interested in the insurance business join some organization to fight antagonistic regulation. Wisconsin and Illinois were pointed out as states where organized opposition is needed most.

He maintained that their action is not because they are losing money here, but because they may not take out of the state the exorbitant profits heretofore demanded.

GIRLS TO MEET MEN

NORMAL SCHOOL CO-ED DEBATERS WILL TALK AGAINST WEBSTERIAN ORATORS TONIGHT

The first of a series of intersociety debates will be held at the normal school this evening. The girls' society The Forum club, will meet a team from the Websterian society. The other members of the circle is the Eclectic society, which will meet the Forum team nexa week. The question to be debated tonight is "Resolved, that the popular recall should apply to all judges." The Misses Illiff, Higgins and Woods will uphold the negative for the Forum and Ed Lorentson, Lief Schreiner and Goodman will uphold the affirmative for the Websterian. The judges for this debate are members of the normal faculty, Mr. Stickle, Mr. Fairchild and Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Moore of the normal faculty, announced this morning that he had communicated with the Struckfuss Boat company in an effort to have the date changed for the excursion to be given by the normal school band on June 5. The object for changing the date was the fact that the Ben Greet Players will be in the city to give a play at Myrick park the night of that day. The boat company announced that it would be impossible for them to give the local school another date.

Boom in Calcium Carbide.

The world's output of calcium carbide in 1913 exceeded 350,000 metric tons, says the Engineering and Mining Journal. The autogenous welding of metals requires a large quantity, about 22,000 tons being consumed for that purpose in Germany, as compared with 28,000 tons for illuminating. The price for calcium carbide in Europe was maintained at about £11 10s per ton. The production and price are regulated by a syndicate, which at the end of 1913 was renewed for another term.

MOSSBERG CONCERT PROVES SUCCESS

Swedish Baritone Displays Splendid Voice Under Excellent Control

The concert given by Mr. Joel Mossberg, Swedish baritone, at the Masonic temple last night, was one of the best recitals heard in this city. Mr. Mossberg has a strong melodius voice of fine range and he used it to good advantage, especially in the songs of his native land. All of his tones were clear and brilliant, especially the medium and low ones. He has complete mastery over his voice and his tone shading was magnificent. Mr. Mossberg has a very pleasing appearance, making his effectiveness all the more noticeable. Mr. Mossberg was forced to respond to several encores.

The first group of songs given were in English, the most pleasing one being the Serenade from Gounod's Faust. The next two groups were in Swedish and were greatly appreciated by the people from the motherland.

The last number on the program was the Largo al Factotum from "The Barber of Seville." In this number Mr. Mossberg was at his best, his tone quality and range being superb. He also showed great dramatic ability in his interpretation of this lifficult number.

Miss Carrie Munson Brooks, as accompanist, is all that can be desired in this important part of a recital.

RESIDENT SINCE 1860 IS CALLED

Mrs. Malisa Shepard died this moning at at 6:30 at the St. Francis hospital, following a six months' illness with dropsy. Mrs. Shepard had been at the hospital for twelve weeks.

Mrs. Shepard was born in Holland. She came to this country when a girl. She came to La Crosse in 1860, having lived in the family homestead at 513 Jackson street for the last 48 years. Her husband died thirteen years ago.

Surviving are one son, Frank of La Crosse, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Morgan of Racine, Wis.

Services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 513 Jackson street. Rev. J. E. Watson of the West Avenue Methodist church will officiate. Interment will take place in Oak Grove cemetery.

DAVIS RE-ELECTED BOARD CHAIRMAN

Bangor Man Is Again Unanimous Choice of the County Supervisors

W. R. Davis of Bangor was unanimously re-elected chairman of the county board by acclamation when the special meeting was called at the court house this morning. On a motion by W. E. Barber that he be re-elected there was not a dissenting vote. After the vote had been taken Mr. Davis thanked the board for the honor it had bestowed on him.

Immediately after the election the board adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

NOVE UPON ZACATECAS

ADVANCE OF GENERAL VILLA UPON FEDERAL STRONGHOLD IS NOW WELL UNDER WAY

TORREON, Coahuila, Mexico, May 27.—The advance of General Francisco Villa's constitutionalist army on Zecatecas is well under way.

Hundreds of car loads of bridge material, rails, etc., and thousands of pioneers have been going south since Sunday and the railroad is being repaired to make it passable for troop trains.

General Villa hopes to reach Zecatecas this week but doubts whether the federals will defend either that city or Auguas Calientes.

After taking Zacatecas, Villa plans a quick rush to Aguas Calientes, and from there proposes to go to San Luis Potosi.

BRING BACK BODY OT E. C. HASKINS

The body of Eugene C. Haskins, who died Monday in Minneapolis, arrived this noon on the Burlington. Haskins died at the St. Barnabas hospital after a long illness with typhoid pneumonia. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence, 2524 Everett street.

BUTTON CAMPAIGN ON.

The homecoming committee asks that when the young ladies approach you and ask that you buy a homecoming button that you do not say, "You cannot afford it," because the largest proportion of the 50 cents asked goes to the finance committee to assist in the celebration.

There is no graft in the sale of the buttons and every cent will be accounted for to the finance committee.

You are asked to wear the button as an inducement to others to buy them and in so doing you will not be approached again. Much advertisement for the celebration will result if ladies as well as the gentlemen will comply, as it is a handsome gold plated souvenir with a safety pin back instead of a button. Hundreds are being sold and the whole two thousand will soon be disposed of.

POSTPONE MEET OF THE GOVERNORS

Gathering of Conference Is Set Over from June 9 Until Some Time in November

MADISON, Wis., May 27. — The meeting of the Governors' conference, which was to be held here June 9 to 13, has been postponed until some time in November.

This action was taken today by Governors McGovern of Wisconsin, O'Neal of Alabama and Ammons of Colorado of the executive committee upon the request of many governors who are desirous of participating in the program and who find it impossible to make the trip to Madison in June.

"Insofar as primary and general elections will be held in most states this summer and fall, the meetings will not be held until some time after November 10," McGovern said.

A. M. LAW SAVES LIVES OF THREE

Archie M. Law, brother of D. S. Law, district attorney of La Crosse county, saved the lives of three men day before yesterday when their skiff was overturned by the waves from a river packet at Davenport. Law, who is a mate on the W. W., leaped over board, swam clear of the boat's paddles, and carried a life line to the three men, who were clinging to the overturned skiff. The rescued men were Dr. J. C. Teufel, William Teufel and Calvin Anderson.

LONG A RESIDENT MRS. HOLMES DIES

Mrs. Sarah Holmes, widow of late Lafayette Holmes, died last evening at 6:20 at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. K. Shepherd, 225 South Sixth street. Mrs. Holmes had been in ill health for a number of years, having been confined to her bed for several weeks before her death. Mrs. Holmes was 71 years. She had lived in La Crosse for forty-seven years.

Surviving her are one son, Walter, of Warwood, W. Va.; three sisters, Mrs. W. K. Shepherd, Mrs. Reba Smith and Mrs. Elleen Allendorf of La Crosse, and four grandchildren, Jessie Powers of Chicago, and Louise, Irene and Stanley Holmes of Warwood, W. Va.

The funeral will be private, only the relatives and a few friends of the family attending. Rev. Katherine McFarlin will officiate.

FIND MAN DEAD CRUSHED BY WAGON

The body of John Houlehan, aged 24, a farmer of Caledonia, Minn., was found Monday, erect against a telephone pole, with life crushed out. It is thought that Houlehan was walking when driving a wagon and became caught between the rack and the pole when he reached to the ground for the reins. The body was found by August Kohl near the James McCarthy farm. The dead man is the son of Michael Houlehan, also of Caledonia.

Standing Up and Sitting Up.

Lady de Bathe (Mrs. Langtry) once made the piquant remark that she was "a foe to dissipation or anything of that kind, and I would urge every girl to say 'No' to the dissipated man who would marry her. The man a girl is obliged to stand up for before marriage, she will have to sit up for afterward."

MANY QUAINT TOUCHES MAKE THE SUMMER FROCK DISTINCTIVE

Sheerness, small patterns, quaint figures and flowers, a few stripes and various combinations of cotton and silk is the recipe after which most of the summer frocks are fashioned as far as materials are concerned. However, there are numberless effective touches that may be added to give distinction; there is the Japanese collar in various degrees of flare, chemisettes and frills and cleverly arranged girdles and sashes, to say nothing of the numberless other styles. The afternoon frock shown in number 8353 is developed in a flowered cotton crêpe de Chine and the chemisette is of organdy. This dress may be copied in size 36, with 4⅛ yards of 36-inch material. Most of the new cottons are wide, averaging 38 to 40 inches; in price they range from 75 cents and up.

One of the most favored neck arrangements is shown in number 8365-8866; the bodice is cut in raglan effect and the neck is cut low on the shoulders with a small standing collar of black. Dark blue crêpe de Chine forms the bodice and skirt and the frills are of black taffetas. It requires 2 yards of 36-inch material to make this blouse in size 36; the skirt requires 3⅝ yards of the same width.

Number 8353 sizes 34 to 42.
Number 8365 sizes 34 to 44.
Number 8366 sizes 22 to 32.

Arrangements have been made by V. M. Smrcina, manager of the Metropolitan theater, to have a series of pictures taken on Memorial day for reproduction as moving pictures in the Metropolitan theater. These films will show the streets and people of Prairie du Chien taken at different places about town and at various times during the day. A special effort will be made to secure excellent films of the memorial parade, the civil war veterans, school children, city officials and various societies marching.

His congergation will also lose a good and earnest pastor and will all miss him. His many friends wish Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd success in their new home.

Mrs. Harry Bell returned recentfrom a visit with her parents at Chicago.

GIRL SUES EVANGELIST

CHICAGO, May 27.—"He told me his career in winning souls was more worthy than my love," declared Miss Georgia W. Jay, pretty blonde, whose $50,000 suit for breach of promise against Homer Rodeheaver, choir director for Evangelist Billy Sunday, was on trial here today.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

CRIPPLES RESTORED

Children have a primitive and even savage intolerance of physical deformity. Unfortunate fellow beings, victims of crippling disease, inspire loathing where one might hope to find love and pity amongst civilized people. While adults may have better control of themselves, their humanity is largely artificial and hence is extremely fragile.

In Boston there is a magnificent school for the training of crippled children. Pursuits and training are devised to make these handicapped children self-supporting and self-respecting citizens. A bus is provided to carry the children to and from school. Some children couldn't come otherwise.

The principal told me during a visit that even those who could walk with the aid of crutches were often not safe alone on the street. Able-bodied urchins attacked them, taunted them, and even snatched their crutches away and left them helpless.

It is generally accepted as a fact that the viciousness of some famous cripples has been defensive in part, and in part a retaliation for real and fancied insults.

A considerable proportion of deformity is preventable; practically all can be lessened or compensated. Hip disease and hunch backs, and most stiff joints in children, are due to tuberculosis. Cure of the disease and prevention of the deformity call for prolonged and expert treatment. Club foot, in infancy, is, under proper treatment, over a sufficiently long period, entirely curable.

Infantile paralysis is incurable, but much of the deformity can be prevented and corrected. One of the most ingenious of operations has been devised for the purpose. It consists in re-attaching muscles in a manner which compels the unaffected muscles to do the work of the paralyzed ones.

Spinal curvature is a most stubborn deformity unless intelligent treatment is begun immediately when it is discovered. In this stage it is usually to be remedied by simple corrective gymnastics persistently carried out.

Bow legs and knock knees are important mainly as they affect the appearance of their owner. In the present struggle for existence a child should be freed from every possible handicap. A mis-shapen body is a terrible handicap. In addition to their own importance, deformities prepare the soil for other diseases which may be due to unnatural living conditions as regard exercises, etc.

The Children's Hospital of Milwaukee (philanthropic,) the State Public School for Dependent Children and the Milwaukee County hospital are public institutions in Wisconsin especially equipped and manned to treat deformities. No deformity, no matter of how long standing, should be assumed to be incapable of improvement, except upon the advice of a competent surgeon.

DELICIOUS EASTERN SALAD

Boil three or four eggs until hard, and cut into slices, removing the yolk. Rub the yolks to a paste, and gradually add to them two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, season with one-half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne. Mix into this dressing lightly one cupful of grated cheese, and a cupful of finely chopped chicken. Garnish with the whites of eggs cut into rings. Serve in lettuceleaf nests, with tiny potato egg on top.—Mother's Magazine.

Miss Lettie Perkins of Hoppertown has been on the stage for several years, but she hasn't become a great actress yet. All she needs is time. She has only been married three times to date.

YOU NEED MEDICINE AT THIS TIME

Everybody is more or less troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of appetite, that tired feeling, or with bilious turns, dull headaches, indigestion and other stomach troubles, or with pimples and other eruptions on the face and body. The reason is that the blood is impure and impoverished.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all these ailments. Ask your druggist for this medicine and get it today. Nothing else acts like it. Get Hood's.

ECONOMICAL LIGHT WEIGHT SIX

Studebaker SIX tire cost is one-third to one-fifth the tire cost of heavier "Sixes"

The Studebaker SIX runs farther on a gallon of gasoline than other "Sixes."

It runs several hundred miles farther on a quart of oil.

It is the one economical "Six" because it is light—weighing less than 3,000 pounds—and perfectly balanced.

And these qualities, in turn, go back to Studebaker special steels and Studebaker intensive manufacturing methods.

To the employment of costly machinery and costly materials that no car built in lesser volume—even if sold at the highest price—can afford.

These methods put value into the Studebaker SIX beyond the value of any other car at any price.

They make it the first—and the only—really economical "Six."

Send for the Studebaker Proof Book, describing Studebaker manufacturing methods.

BIG BASEBALL DEAL ON IS THE RUMOR

NEW YORK, May 27.—Reports of a big baseball deal, the season's biggest, were circulated here Tuesday. By it, it is declared, Fred Merkle and Eddie Grant of the Giants will go to the St. Louis Cardinals, the Cards will turn over Lee Magee to the Giants and Pitchers Doak and Perritt to Boston. The Braves will then hand over Hub Perdue to New York and the three cornered bargain will be complete.

According to the story, which the New York Giants' headquarters would not deny, deliveries are to be made when the western teams come east the first of next month.

M'GRAW WON'T TALK

CHICAGO, May 27.—Manager McGraw of the New York Giants Tuesday afternoon would neither deny nor confirm the report from New York of a big three-cornered deal, involving the transfer of Marquard, Merkle and Eddie Grant to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I am sorry," McGraw told a United Press reporter at the Cub park, 'but I simply can't make any statement, one way or the other."

MAY RE-ENACT ROLE

Capt. U. S. Grant, Third Corps of Engineers, grandson of Gen. U. S. Grant, may soon have a chance to take part in a march similar to that made by his famous grandfather, who as a lieutenant, accompanied Gen. Scott on his successful march from Vera Cruz to Mexico City, during the first war with Mexico. Capt. Grant is now in charge of a company of engineers at Vera Cruz, and will take part in the advance on Mexico City in case of the failure of the mediation plans.

In such an event the difficult task of opening the way for the troops over the mountains will be alloted to Capt. Grant and his men.

CHAMPION RITCHIE LICKED BY WHITE

Chicago Fighter Has Best Of Seven Rounds and Almost Knocks Champ Out in the First

RITCHIE BEST IN THIRD ROUND

White Lacks Punch to Land Knockout; Ritchie To Meet Welch in Spite Of Result

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 27.—Despite the fact that he took a lacing here last night at the hands of Charley White of Chicago, Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion, will meet Freddy Welch in London next month. He said this morning that a wire from New York said that his guarantee had been posted there.

Ritchie, with his trainers, will leave here tomorrow for Chicago and will go to New York next Tuesday. A flat $40,000 guarantee will be his pay for the Welch bout.

White shaded Ritchie last night most of the way, according to all critics, but because this was no knockout, the no-decision law of this state prevents a change in the championship.

Ritchie Learns Lesson

"I learned a lesson," said Ritchie. "The next time the other fellow can force the fight part of the time. There's nothing to it in a ten round scrap."

Ritchie remained at his hotel this morning decorating his bruised body with salve and beefsteak to restore something of a natural color and contour. Both eyes were closed and his nose was badly cut.

In only one round did the champion have the advantage. That was the third, in which he drove White around the ring with vicious jabs. Two rounds were even and the other seven belonged to the Chicagoan. Ritchie was fighting furiously at the final bell in an effort to land a knockout but his blows went wild and the round itself went to White.

"I was the aggressor throughout and believe that in a longer battle I would defeat White," he said today. "A lucky blow in the first weakened me and I think I deserve credit for an uphill fight."

White said he would like to go a longer route to prove that his victory was not a fluke.

White Staggers Champ

Fans today were still talking of the first round when after being chased about the ring, White landed a left to the jaw that staggered the champion. Following up his advantage the challenger drove jabbing rights and lefts to the face and once had Ritchie hanging through the ropes. The white-faced fans for a moment saw the championship change hands. Ritchie, however, staggered back and by covering up managed to get through the round.

White apparently suffered "buck fever." He had the chance of his life but couldn't land the one necessary punch.

Battling Nelson served as a timekeeper and Ad Wolgast acted as adviser in one of the preliminaries. Abe Attell was another fighter serving in White's corner.

The receipts were $14,436, of which Ritchie took $10,000. White's share amounted to $3,366. The Queensbury club faces a deficit of about $2,000.

HIGHS EXPECT TO WIN FIELD MEET

The team which will represent the La Crosse high school in the track and field meet to be held next Saturday, is expecting to carry away the prize. The team will consist of fifteen men, the pick of the high school track representatives.

Harold Taylor is expected to take first place in the weights. He showed up well at the state meet, taking first in the hammer throw and second in the shot put.

Stupka should capture first in the broad jump, as he made over twenty feet in the preliminary meet for Madison. Reget and Harris are also looked upon as point winners, for they have been doing well during the last week in practice. Weeks and Garder will enter the pole vault and should have fine chances of capturing first and second places. In practice yesterday Weeks easily cleared ten feet and could go higher if closely pressed. The rest of the team has been doing well and the coach has no doubt but that La Crosse will win the meet. Fifteen high schools will be represented.

HOW MR. HADLEY PROPOSED

The way President Arthur Twining Hadley, according to Yale legend, asked his prospective father-in-law for permission to marry his daughter was characteristic. At the time, this gentleman, Luzon B. Morris, occupied an anomalous political position. He had recently been elected governor of Connecticut, but his claim was disputed and the state was in a political turmoil.

"Mr. Morris," was the way Mr. Hadley approached the subject of his call, "I hope that I—at least—may be permitted—to call you—governor."—The World's Work.

FILTERED WATER FOR CHICAGO

Three experts, who have been studying the future sanitary policy of Chicago, announce that the time has come to consider the filtration of the city's water supply from Lake Michigan, which is often so turbid as to be extremely distasteful. The present sanitary quality of the water is not questioned, but there is arising a demand for a clearer water than it is possible to obtain without filtration with intake cribs at any reasonable distance from shore.—Engineering Record.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

BY HAL SHERIDAN

Washington eased gracefully into first place in the American league race after taking the second straight from the Tigers. Dubuc's costly jiggle of Henry's grounder helped the Senators.

Yesterday was a bad day for Bender. The pokerless St. Louis Browns worked the chief for four doubles, six singles and five runs in four innings, enough to beat the Athletics.

They called it Hank O'Day's day at the Cub park. Seventeen Giants and thirteen Cubs put on a wild battle in which twenty-seven hits for forty-six bases were pounded off seven pitchers, the Giants finally winning.

Along came Ping Bodie in the ninth with a whale of a drive for four sacks and the White Sox won their second straight from the Highlanders.

The Cincinnati Reds had Hurler Alexander perspiring from the jump and crushed the Phillies 10 to 0. Alexander was good for a dozen clouts in six innings.

The Pirates' mad rush up the National league heap was halted, Ed Reulbach and his Brooklyn team mates wielding the passo. Reulbach held the league leaders to four hits.

Foster of the Boston Red Sox, to date, has completed forty-two consecutive innings without for the season, the league record for the season. He worked five rounds against the Neps yesterday.

Bob Groom, reported to have jumped the Feds yesterday, didn't. Instead he blew in the tenth round, his wild pitch handing Baltimore a win over the S'Lou Feds.

WOLGAST TO MEET RIVERS ON JULY 4

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 27.—Ad Wolgast, who witnessed the Ritchie-White fight here last night, announced today that he had been signed to meet Joe Rivers on the coast July 4 with $10,000 guaranteed as his end. There had been talk of matching the Wildcat and Ritchie for Independence day.

POULTRYMEN PLAN COOPING SYSTEM

Secretary Wm. E. Hoeschler of the Western Wisconsin Poultry association announced today that it was decided at the last meeting of the poultry men to install a uniform cooping system, which will place the association in a class with the very large shows. Bids are already in the hands of the secretary and he will bear home manufacturers in mind before placing the order. It is the intention of the members to form a stock company among themselves, each to take a certain number of shares and when there is sufficient money in the treasury the stock will be paid back to the members.

SOUL-SAVING TIME LIMIT

One day a visiting clergyman, who was to preach before the students at Yale university, asked how long he was expected to talk.

"Of course, we put no limit upon you," replied President Hadley, with his usual pump-handle gesture, "but we have a feeling here at Yale—that no souls—are saved—after the first 20 minutes."—The World's Work.

ENGAGE COACH FOR CLASS PLAY

Miss Margarite Constance has been engaged to coach the senior class play at the normal school. The play to be given this year is Richard Brindsley Sheridan's "School for Scandal." Miss Constance is a graduate of Hamlin university and of the Columbia college of expression in Chicago. She has had much experience in this line of work and it is expected that the play this year will be all that can be desired.

Tryouts will be held today and the cast will be announced later. Miss Constance's home is at Cumberland, Wis.

ARBITRATORS FAIL TO SETTLE SCRAP

Faculty Board's Findings in Debaters' Scrap Not Accepted by Either Side

An official report of the arbitration board composed of Sanford and Thompson, appointed by President Cotton to settle the debaters' row at the normal school, was given to Mr. Cotton Monday, but it has not been made public.

Nevertheless its contents are known, and are substantially as follows: The two societies are not to finish the debate under discussion this semester and the debate will not be forfeited to one or the other. It was also advised that the societies do not meet in debate until some adequate means had been provided for their management. The board scored the debaters of the Eclectic society for their negligence in attending meetings of the debaters and intimated that it was their fault that the debate was not held. All in all their report tended to smooth matters over in hope that some agreement would be made next fall at the opening of school.

The Websterian members called a meeting of the entire society yesterday noon and decided not to accept the report of the arbitrators. They want a decision of forfeiture to their society or else a date set for the debate this semester. The members of the Eclectic have also expressed themselves as ready to take a hand in the affair and the affair seems far from settled.

HIGHS TO MEET LANESBORO AGAIN

Wednesday afternoon Lanesboro will play the local high school team at the League park in this city. Lanesboro has defeated all the other teams which they have played against this season except La Crosse and are the high school champions of southern Minnesota. La Crosse expects to slash their record again by slipping over a larger score even than last game. King will probably pitch for La Crosse. The game will be called at 3:30 sharp.

"Sterilized" Business.

In industry and merchandizing, it is the dawn of a sterilized age in which sterilized corporations shall sell sterilized goods at sterilized prices and by sterilized methods. All the germs are to be extracted. If you make a little agreement to buy your raw material to sell your finished product, to steal a process from your neighbor, to fake the quality of your goods, to "get the jump" on a new market line—in fact to do any naughty thing—the trade commission will get you if you don't watch out.—C. Rebuked.

That little affair in Zabern has taught the German civilian that no liberties are to be taken with those who wear the soldier's privileged garb. Little Rudolph, aged ten, had joined the Boy Scouts. Little Rudolph's father ventured to smile indulgently upon his son as the lad in full field kit of khaki set out for a practise hike across the turnip fields that lie about the ancient city of Dinkelsbuhl. "Don't grin at me that way, father," spoke up Rudolph, in a tone of dignified reprimand. "Remember, I wear the uniform."

Sick Insurance in Prussia.

Prussian sick insurance, which in amended form went into effect January 1, has been found applicable to domestic servants. In Berlin the rate amounts to about ten per cent of the wages paid, which is considered out of all proportion to the risk. T. R. TO GET INTO FALL CAMPAIGN

Politicians Believe He Will Be Active; Amalgamation Rumor Continues

HE APPROVES COURSE OF PARTY

Said to Have Set Seal of Approval on Act of Moosers in Congress

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The national capital was taking stock today. With Col. Roosevelt back in New York, politicians of every party were discussing what the result was to be.

Will Enter Campaign

All agreed that so soon as he returns from his son's wedding in Spain, Colonel Roosevelt will take active part in the coming fall campaign when the entire membership of the house and one-third of the senate will be elected.

Those progressives who remained within the republican party and the radical element of that organization look for an amalgamation. They point to the fact that at all times while here the colonel spoke in highest terms of the rank and file of republicanism.

Just what Roosevelt and the progressives in congress discussed behind closed doors late last night was divulged for the first time today. The progressive leaders here insisted that the 1916 presidential fight was not considered nor even mentioned. Neither was the prospect for amalgamation of bull moose and republicans, they insisted. They admitted that Roosevelt set the stamp of his emphatic approval upon the efforts and legislative program of the progressives in congress.

According to Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania, chairman of the bull moose executive committee, Roosevelt received reports from House Leader Murdock and Senator Clapp.

Clapp a Mooser

"Folks have been wondering about Senator Clapp's political affiliations," said Kelly, "inasmuch as he designated himself a republican in the congressional directory; but he left no doubt when he referred to himself and Senator Poindexter of Washington as the only two progressives in the senate.

"The question of Amalgamation between the republicans and progressive parties was not considered, but we feel that we will be compelled to endorse Mr. Roosevelt in 1916."

NEW YORK, May 27.—Colonel Roosevelt returned from Washington early today and plunged immediately into a mountain of work which has been accumulating on his desk at the Outlook offices since his departure for South America.

RETAIL STORES TO CLOSE ON HOLIDAY

All retail stores of the city will remain closed all day Memorial day, with the exception of the groceries, which will remain open until 10 in the morning, according to announcement made by the Retail merchants today. The shoe and clothing stores will be open until 10 o'clock Friday night preceding Memorial day. The merchants today urged that all necessary purchases be made before the holiday.

BIG RAIN ENDS DROUTH

LINCOLN, Neb., May 27.—With the breaking of the drouth early today, the main streets of Lincoln were flooded by the heavy downpour and street car traffic was tied up for two hours. Basements of business buildings were filled with water and much damage done. The three inch rain fell in a little over an hour. Crops will be much helped.

Council Gives Body Right to Put Up Tents on Market Square for Homecoming Week

SCORE DELAY ON NEW VIADUCT

Mahoney Demands to Know Why Work Is Not Completed; Is Told Milwaukee Road to Blame

Privilege of erecting shelter tents and other necessary coverings on the market square during Homecoming and Made in La Crosse week was last night granted to the board of trade at a special meeting of the council.

The proposition of turning over to the board concession rights along the streets was not reported but it is understood, will be favorably reported upon and probably passed at the regular meeting of the council, soon.

The council agreed to take up and relay the paving for the two new blocks of White Way on Main street from Front to Third streets.

The proposition to have the city donate $450 towards the cost of repairing the White Way was not acted upon at the request of N. M. Scott representing the Retail Merchants' association. Mr. Scott, explained that the committee had in view a new plan for repairing the lights—one that would insure their use without repair for twenty years.

The board of trade was granted the right to erect an information bureau in the private alley between the Security and State banks on Fourth street.

Last night's meeting was featured by the demand of Alderman Paul W. Mahoney for information as to why the work on the Rose street viaduct has been delayed.

The Milwaukee road is holding it up, he was informed.

ENTIRE EAST IN GRIP OF THE HEAT

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The entire eastern section of the country is in the grip today of an abnormally early and severe heat wave from which no immediate relief is promised.

The temperature rose above ninety in most of the eastern cities. New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Charleston were among the hottest places.

An unusually heavy fog covers the Atlantic ocean, due, the weather bureau explains, to the extreme neat coming in contact with the cool waves.

Oldest Power Plant in New York.

The oldest isolated power plant in New York City, according to the Engineering News, is that in the Mills Building in Broad street. It was installed in 1883, or only four years after the announcement of Edison's incandescent lamp. Here are the fifteenth and nineteenth Edison dynamos, still running with thier original steam engines. These have been running every day for 31 years.

OADAMS BACK FROM ST. CLOUD

Rev. T. Stanley Oadams returned last night from St. Cloud, Minn., where he delivered an address before the union of Epworth leagues in connection with the dedication of the new Methodist church. His topic was "The Historic Values and Inspirations of Epworth." He also delivered a course of three lectures to the inmates of the state reformatory at St. Cloud. Rev. Oadams declares that Bishop Quayle, who dedicated the church at St. Cloud in the morning, raising enough money to secure the payment of the cost of over $24,000, drove sixty-five miles by auto immediately after, and at four o'clock the same afternoon laid the corner stone of the new Methodist cathedral in Minneapolis which is to cost $400,000 dollars.

Robert Tiere (top) and Peter Belanger.

No tale of the sea has ever been written which excels in horror the one told by the four survivors of the fifteen sailors who abandoned the S. S. Columbian when that vessel was burning off the coast of Nova Scotia May 3. Half dead and almost delirious, they were picked up on May 17 by the revenue cutter Seneca. One by one they had seen eleven of their shipmates first become stark, raving mad and then die of exposure and starvation. When the four survivors were picked up they were living of crumbs of hardtack and boot leather. Two of the survivors are Robert Tiere and Peter Belanger.

"Grandpa, were you in the ark?"

"Certainly not, my dear," answered the astonished old gentleman.

"Then why weren't you drowned?"

Standard Tests for Hemp.

According to a report from the American consul at Hongkong, the fiber division of the bureau of agriculture at Manila is conducting extensive experiments for the purpose of establishing scientific standards for testing hemp, in lieu of the present methods according to which experts of many years' experience judge the quality and value of the product by sight and touch. The new tests will be based upon the relation between the weight of a meter length of the fiber and the breaking strain. Tests for single fibers will be varied with tests for twisted fibers. As soon as this system of tests is fully worked out it will be put into effect in the Philippine hemp market.

AN ACTOR IN SPITE OF HIMSELF

President Arthur Twining Hadley, of Yale, recalls with zest his one appearance, in his early days, as an amateur actor.

Wu Ting Fang on American Children.

The youth of America have not unnaturally caught the spirit of their elders, so that even children consider themselves almost on a par with their parents, while the parents, on the other hand, also treat them as if they were equals, and allow them the utmost freedom, writes Wu Ting Fang in Harper's Magazine. While a Chinese child renders unquestioning obedience to his parents' orders, such obedience as a soldier yields to his superior officer, the American child must have the whys and the wherefores duly explained to him, and the reason for his obedience made clear. It is not his parent that he obeys, but expediency and the dictates of reason.

Success may not depend so much upon what you do yourself as upon what you can jolly others into doing for you.

MRS. PANKHURST STARVES SELF OUT

Militant Leader Freed Today After Hunger-striking Since Friday

LONDON, May 27.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette leader, was again released today from Holloway jail under the "cat and mouse" act. As usual Mrs. Pankhurst went on a hunger strike immediately upon her re-arrest at the gates of Buckingham palace last Friday and today she was said to be very weak. She was taken away by suffragettes to recuperate. Mrs. Pankhurst was arrested when she drove toward the palace in a taxicab with the avowed purpose of leading a militant army to harangue the king for the ballot.

Mrs. Pankhurst is under a three year jail sentence for instigating the bomb attack on the country home of Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George. Each time she has been in jail she has starved herself until released.

EGYPTIANS PLAYED BASEBALL

MADISON, Wis., May 27.—"Careful investigation would show that the baseball and football games as played today are but evolutions of games played long ago in Egypt," said Dr. J. C. Elsom, assistant professor of physical education, University of Wisconsin, in speaking of the new course on the history of physical education recently installed.

Many tablets found in forgotten ruins indicate a knowledge of the game of baseball among the Egyptians. In the time of the Greeks football had gained some prominence. And the Greeks experienced the same evil which the colleges of today have to combat, that of professionalism. Winning became a mania. They would go to any length to get successful men. Finally it was necessary to abolish the Olympic games by royal edict, the conditions became so bad.

Prof. Elsom takes up the history of ancient sports of all nations, the sports of medieval times and the sports of today, following with a discussion in the leaders of sports of history. A great deal of his material is in picture form and has been transferred to slides for purposes of illustration. The course is one of the most unique which has ever been attempted.

BABY'S TEMPERATURE.

A most interesting feature to note about the baby is the length. At birth an average baby is about 20 to 21 inches in length, and at the end of the first year about 29 to 30 inches. This does not alter much, even if the baby is underfed and badly nourished.

The temperature of the infant is of great importance, so do not be misled by the frequently heard statement to the contrary. Only one method of taking the temperature of an infant is of any value, and that is by the rectum; and this corresponds very closely with the temperature of the adult taken by the mouth; 98.6 is normal, and a variation from 98.2 to 99 will be found in perfectly normal infants, says the Mother's Magazine. But let me add one word here of great importance. While you all realize that in disorders of the stomach and intestines, and in infections of all kinds there is a rise of temperature which gives you a plain danger signal, remember that in premature and under-nourished babies the same conditions will give you frequently, instead of a rise in temperature, a drop in temperature below 98, often as low as 96.5, and this drop in temperature is of great significance.

The pulse during the first year will average well above 100 in a normal baby, frequently as high as 130. The baby breathes from 25 to 30 times a minute under normal conditions.

Odd Sport.

At the Halterophile club in Paris not long ago one Peladeau achieved a record by tearing a pack of playing cards in one pull—time, two minutes and thirty-two seconds. The events in this card-tearing contest were: Tearing the greatest possible number of cards tied together top and bottom—time allowance, three minutes; tearing a pack of 80 cards in the quickest possible time; tearing the greatest possible number of cards in four. This is a form of "sport" wherein many Frenchmen specialize. The men who enter the contests are not necessarily powerful, but they possess enormous strength in their fingers—a strength that is further developed by careful training.

Naval Secrets Stolen.

For the third time within a year the British admiralty finds itself obliged to revise its war signal code on account of the theft of a signal book. Almost simultaneous with the committal at Bow street of the alleged German spies, Frederick Adolphus Gould and Maud Gould, for trial, charged with "having feloniously obtained, for a purpose prejudicial to the state, certain information calculated to be useful to an enemy, and with attempting to communicate such information to another person," came the news that a copy of the most confidential signal code book in the naval service had been stolen from H. M. S. Queen.

The conversational powers of inanimate things are demonstrated by the fact that mony talks. Also we sometimes hear of a speaking likeness.

CONGRESSMAN WANTS OHIO GOVERNORSHIP

GRANT'S INITIALS NOT "U. S."

His name is always written "U. S."—or "Ulysses Simpson"—Grant. That was not his real name. At least his first two names were not "Ulysses Simpson."

During his babyhood a name was chosen for the future general and president by the simple expedient of writing several names on slips of paper, placing them in a hat and drawing out two. The first slip drawn in this innocent lottery conducted by the honest tanner, his father, bore the name of "Hiram," the second "Ulysses."

Grant's name was to undergo other vicissitudes, however. When it was decided to send him to West Point to be educated for a soldier his belongings were placed in a trunk which was marked boldly with his initials, "H. U. G." Young Grant observing that his initials so glaringly displayed spelled the word "hug," and realizing that this could not escape the attention of the West Point wits, took the liberty of reversing the order of his name. He painted out the offending letters, so runs the story, and substituted "U. H. G." And as Ulysses Hiram Grant he registered on the books of the military academy.

Fate was to have still another "whack" at his name. He had secured the appointment to West Point though the influence of a congessman who was an old fiend of the family. This legislative gentleman, knowing that Mrs. Grant's maiden name was Simpson, assumed that that was the middle name of he son, and as Ulysses Simpson Grant he appeared on the nomination paper. The youthful West Pointer had no objection to his new name and to save the trouble of having it changed, accepted it as his own, "U. S. Grant."

MARK SINAI

A simple cross marks the spot which investigators of Sinai have decided is the place where Moses read out to the children of Israel the laws of God. The mountain itself must stand for the monument. Rus Sufsafeh, the elevation on which the cross stands, is wild, barren and rocky.

About three hundred yards from the base of the mountain there runs across the plain a low, semicircular mound which forms a kind of natural theatre; while farther distant, on either side of the plain, the slopes of the enclosing mountains would afford seats to an almost unlimited number of spectators. Not far off there is an extensive recess which was probably used as a camping-ground. No spot on the whole peninsula is so well supplied with water and pasturage.—From the June Strand.

A Vacation on a Ranch

this summer will do you more good than a barrel of medicine. Get out into the open, close to nature and have the time of your life. Rest, relax and recreate. Ride over sunflooded trails in the hills; row on silvery lakes; fish in shady brooks; tramp down winding paths among the trees; loaf in soft valleys of green; stroll in the moonlight; eat of the fat of the land and sleep like a babe. Such a vacation pays tremendous health dividends. You will come back feeling like a different person.

In the Black Hills of South Dakota, in the Big Horn Mountains of Wyoming, in the Buffalo Bill country, along the Cody Road into Yellowstone Park, there are countless places where you can spend just such a vacation and at a very moderate cost. The Hot Springs (S. Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, May 27.—Trade in wheat was bearish at the outset today on account of wet weather over part of the wheat belt of America and lower foreign cables, but there was a quick change of front and rally, May advancing ¾c and the other months ¼ to ⅜c.

Corn opened lower. May continued to sag throughout the forenoon but there was a buying rally in the other months that sent prices up ⅜ to ¾c.

Oats futures were lower at the start because of the rain reports. May and September continued weak throughout the forenoon, but July recovered the early loss.

Provisions held firm and were a shade higher on account of higher hog prices at the Stock Yards.

Wheat made fractional gains in the afternoon, but the other grains were dominated by a slightly easier feeling.

Provisions climbed gradually until the close.

The Goddard Bonds

ARE NEARLY ALL SOLD. We have a few left in $100.00 and $500.00 denominations. They run five years, pay 6 per cent and are secured by mortgage on real estate worth about four times the amount of the debt. There is alsc a probability that they will be paid before maturity at a premium of 2 per cent. All of which makes a very attractive investment.

We have many other good bonds and would like to tell you about any of them.

THANK MRS. BURTON FOR TAG DAY WORK

Associated Charities Board of Directors Hears the Monthly Reports Last Night

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Charities last evening it was decided that a letter conveying the thanks of the society should be sent to Mrs. George W. Burton for her work directing the collection of funds for the visiting nurse on Tag day last Saturday.

Miss Kate Lee, assistant secretary of the Associated Charities, submitted her report for the month of April when the following work was done: 47 cases were reported of which number eight were new ones; 130 visits were made; 100 office interviews with applicants were held; rent was paid for six families; 12 pairs of new shoes were given away; 9 pairs of old shoes were given away and a number of pairs of shoes were repaired; 128 garments were given away; employment was found for five people.

The report of the visiting nurse was submitted by Miss Bertha Haugen and was as follows: 41 cases reported; 146 visits made; 130 working visits made; 9 instructive visits made; 7 friendly visits made.

Fifteen garments and one baby's outfit were loaned out in the city.

It was decided at last night's meeting that the Associated Charities office will be closed Saturday afternoon, beginning June 1 and that from June 1 until Miss Salisbury returns, which will probably be about July 22, the office will be open only a half of each day. Miss Lee has not decided whether she will have her office open in the mornings or afternoons.

MRS. FROHMADER DIES AT SPARTA

Death Comes as a Shock to Relatives as She Had Recovered from Recent Illness

SPARTA, Wis., May 27.—Mrs. Mary Frohmader died at her residence on Cottage street yesterday at one o'clock, after an illness of about three months. Mrs. Frohmader was an elderly lady, and it was last February that she was first taken sick. She partly recovered and the end was a severe shock to the near relatives. Death was due to an enlarged liver.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Frohmader residence, after which the body will be taken to Camp Douglas for burial.

Beginning this morning the Sparta Ward schools will start school at 8:30 and close at 3.

Mr. Charles Gates of Norwalk and his son Carl were in Sparta on business yesterday.

Miss Mary Brieske, Miss Agnes Karis and William Manual of Norwalk were in Sparta yesterday.

The building on Water street formerly occupied by Falk & Anderson, which was purchased by Dr. Lamb, is about to be torn down and a new modern structure erected in its place. Although final arrangements have not been completed, work will probably be begun soon.

Carl Gates of Norwalk has accepted a position in the Pickwick Clothes shop.

SHOW BIG GAIN IN TRACTION TAX

MADISON, Wis., May 27. — The twenty-eight street and interruban companies, and light, heat and power companies operated in connection therewith, will pay $810,104.88 in taxes this year, compared with a total tax of $609,252.19 last year. This is an increase in the amount of taxes collected of $210,852.

The law provides that of the total tax assessed 15 per cent shall go to the state and 85 per cent to the localities hrough which the road operates. Of the $810,104.88 to be collected this year from all of the roads, $121,515.73 will be retained by the state and $688,589.15 will be distributed to the localities. The amount which the localities of the state will receive this year compared with the amount paid last year has been increased over $150,000.

CHERRY CHEESE

Stone red cherries and chop them fine; then to each pound of the fruit allow half as much sugar; add enough water to prevent burning and slowly simmer until it forms a smooth mass, stirring all the while; when cool it should be firm like jelly. Serve in slices, with whipped cream and angel cake.—Mother's Magazine.

CHERRY GLACE.

Boil two pints of water and one of sugar together for 15 minutes; then add two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin, the stiffly beaten white of an egg, four tablespoonfuls of whipped cream. Put a little of this at a time into individual molds, when firm cover with sweetened, pitted cherries and another layer of the gelatin mixture. Continue in this way till the mold is filled. Chill and serve with whipped cream.—Mother's Magazine.

RUSHFORD HOLDS MEMORIAL SUNDAY

Four Veterans Present at at Services Held at Rushford Presbyterian Church Sunday

RUSHFORD, Minn., May 27.—Despite the threatening weather of last Sunday morning, a large congregation gathered at the Rushford Presbyterian church to hear the memorial services, the sermon being given by the pastor, Rev. John Bantly. The church was fragrant with blossoms and growing plants, which the decorating committee had placed in almost every nook and corner. "Old Glory" also fluttered its beautiful folds from the walls and the pulpit was draped with its tri-color. This year there were but three local veterans present; Louis Knudson, Olavas Olson and Mr. Laugen. The number was made four by the presence of a gentleman from Independence, Iowa, who happened to be passing Sunday in the city. An excellent sermon was given, a ladies' quartette rendered a selection and the regular choir had prepared special music for the occasion. At the Sunday school hour Mr. Morse, who was at one time a worker with Dwight L. Moody, addressed the teachers and pupils and left with them all added courage and stronger faith.

In the evening the baccalaureate sermon was given by Rev. Bantly at the opera house, Rev. Peterson of the Free Evangelical church, reading a portion of scripture and offering prayer. A most excellent sermon was given. A couple of fine selections were sung by six young ladies of the High school, accompanied by Miss Helmey on the piano. The Presbyterian choir rendered an anthem and the audience was dismissed by the benediction pronounced by Rev. Peterson.

Memorial Day exercises will be held at the park on Saturday afternoon, if the weather permits, but if the day should prove stormy, the custom of former years will be followed and the program given in the opera house.

The commencement programs are now out. Graduating exercises will be held at the Rushford opera house on the evening of May 29th. A class of fifteen will graduate this year, nine girls and six boys. Prof. Maxwell, of the Winona Normal, will be the principal speaker of the evening. The program begin at eight o'clock.

Rev. Jaastad has gone to Chicago to attend the funeral services of Dr. Niles T. Quales, Nestor of the Scandinavian-American medical men of that city. Dr. Quales died from pneumonia, at his home there last Saturday, being past his eighty-third year. He was quite well known in and around this city.

John Hanson of St. Paul, is the guest for a short time, of his father, A. K. Hanson, Sr.

Thirty-eight years is a long time to remain away from a place and unnumbered changes must take place during that time. Mr. Edward N. Lake, now of Chicago, but at one time a resident of this city, is now here, taking note of the varied transformations which have been wrought in this place since his departure in 1876. He finds it a difficult matter to locate anyone whom he knew in the olden days and says the city surely looks a good deal different than when he left.

Mr. Knauf, the father of Mrs. Peter Miller, is very ill at the home of that lady and no hopes are entertained for his recovery, on account of his advanced age.

Those townspeople who were astir early and were near the depot about half past eight on Monday morning last, viewed an unique sight. Two hundred and forty pigeons, of the homing variety, were set at liberty at that hour and certainly made a beautiful sight when they rose in a body, and, without any preliminary circlings, headed straight for their home at Green Bay, Wis. The hour of their departure was noted and the time wired to their owner. The birds were sent here as the result of a wager between two pigeon fanciers, one of whom contended that a young pigeon could not find its way back home from so long a distance, the other man believing it could. The distance the little creatures must cover is about three hundred and forty miles. At present no word has been received as to their arrival at Green Bay.

Miss Gladys Alm, who has been with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs: Dan Eggen of Dubuque, Iowa, for the past two years, is now at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Alm, of Ferry street. Mr. Eggen having, with Mr. Silas Shervin, bought out the restaurant formerly owned by Mr. Abrahamson of this place, he and his family will make this their home for the future.

The proprietors of Rushford's new bakery held their opening sale last Saturday and were well patronized.

Miss Effie Blanchfield leaves on the sixth of next month for her new duties at the Rochester hospital, where she will take up a course in nursing, the first three months being probational.

Miss Alice Berg will, at the close of school, leave for a summer school course at the Austin Business college.

HIGH SCHOOL TO HOLD MEMORIAL

Memorial day exercises will be conducted at the high school next Friday morning at 9:45. The program will consist of a speech by some local citizen and patriotic songs by the school and glee clubs. "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" will be sung by the entire school. The girls' and boys' glee clubs will sing "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground."

5,918,098
gallons Polarine sold last year
1,536,232
gallons more than in 1912

The constantly increasing use of POLARINE by thousands of motorists is indisputable evidence of its lubricating efficiency.

It affords perfect lubrication to all makes and types of motor cars, motor trucks, motorcyles and motor boats.

POLARINE maintains the correct lubricating body at any motor speed or temperature.

Polarine FRICTION REDUCING MOTOR OIL — Red Crown Gasoline for Motor Vehicles and Motor Boats

POLARINE remains liquid at zero. POLARINE differs from all other makes of motor oils, in that it furnishes perfect lubrication to friction surfaces at extremes of temperature.

The essential characteristics obviate the necessity of changing oil for summer and winter lubrication—also the necessity of mixing kerosene, graphite and other injurious products with unsuitable and poor cold-test oil for the purpose of making it feed in winter weather.

DAM GOES OUT AT FLORA DELL POND

Popular Summer Resort Near Tomah Resembles Mud Hole when Dam Gives Way

TOMAH, Wis., May 27—Flora Dell pond, a popular summer resort, now resembles a mud hole. Monday evening the dam broke and the water poured out into the valley below, carrying with it hundreds of fish with which the pond was stocked. The water broke the boards on the pour over.

Wednesday is the last day of school for the Seniors of Tomah high school. At that time Senior exemptions will be posted and the examinations commenced on Thursday. The class of 1914 is forty-two strong and has been in High school the same number of years that Mr. Bray has been principal of the Tomah schools.

Daily practices are being held by those in the class play, "She Stoops to Conquer," and those in the class day program also practice daily. Underclass examinations commence next Tuesday.

New Residences to be Erected

Mr. Henry Meinecke who has been a successful butcher in the city has purchased the two Grutch lots on Mc. Lean Ave. and this summer expects to erect two modern residences. This will be a fine addition to this residence section.

Locals and Personals

The frog shop team met its first defeat of the year Sunday when it met the Camp Douglas team at that place. The score was 9 to 8 which was very close. Because of the slippery field, good ball could not be played.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ludwig of Mather, are in the city at present. Mrs. Ludwig underwent an operation in the Tomah hospital on Wednesday morning.

Smith and Robinson, two local men, who have always been associated in business, expect to operate an auto livery. They have several cars to be used in the business.

Mr. W. E. Nuzum, traveling salesman is spending a few days at his home here.

The Taft residence on Superior Ave., is about completed and in a short time will be ready for occupancy.

Many of the forest fires attributed to railroads are caused, not by sparks from locomotives, but by cigar and cigarret butts thrown from smoking car windows.—From Forest Leaves.

TOO MUCH TANGO CAUSES NEURALGIA

Violent neuralgia of the head generally attacks overworked women who lack sufficient sleep, fresh air and red blood.

With the prevalent craze for dancing at all times and places it is becoming noticeable that women whose blood is thin—anaemic—become subject to neuralgic pains when they dance too much and rob themselves of sleep and open air exercise.

The woman who makes great demands on her strength, either by overworking or overdancing, must keep her blood in condition or suffer. The pain of neuralgia is simply a sign adopted by nature to show that the nervous system is being starved because the blood no longer brings it what it needs. The one great cause of neuralgia is debility with anaemia or bloodlessness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic for the blood and nerves. They begin at once to enrich the blood and enable it to furnish the nerves with the elements they need to restore them to health. A booklet on the home treatment of nervous disorders that will enable you to help yourself will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schnectady, N. Y. Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
